NEW JOBLESS PAY CLAIMS INCREASE 79,900 IN U.S. FOR FIRST WEEK OF APRIL

COUNTY BOARD DECIDES TO TRY POSTCARD CHECK ON VOTER LISTS

Tests in Selected Areas First—To Challenge All Returned Notices—Too Late for August Primary.

The St. Louis County Board of Election Commissioners announced today it plans to try a new method of canvassing voter registrations. This followed disclosures by the Post-Dispatch of registration irregularities before the Wellston city election April 1.

Board canvassers told the commissioners yesterday they could not find at listed addresses 92 of 109 persons Post-Dispatch reporters discovered apparently did not live at the addresses from which they were registered. The 92 persons not found will be notified to show cause why they should not be stricken from the lists.

The board voted yesterday to try to arrange with the Post Office to use a postcard canvassing system similar to one in Kansas City. Under this procedure, postcards are sent to all registered voters. Any voters whose addresses are unknown to the post office then are sent notices by the board that their registrations will be canceled unless they show that they are entitled to remain on the registration rolls.

Preliminary Trial.

Board chairman Joe Oxenhandler said it is planned to use the system in selected areas of the county to test its feasibility, cost and accuracy. If the test proves satisfactory, the plan could be used in checking registrations for the general election in November, he added. There is not sufficient time to institute the system before the primary election in August, he stated.

Oxenhandler said the findings of the Post-Dispatch canvass, as substantiated by the board's check, "prove conclusively" a lack of thoroughness in present canvassing procedures.

The board now spends at least $30,000 annually for two county-wide canvasses. Oxenhandler predicted this may rise to $50,000 soon as a result of population increases without any change in canvassing methods.

Board employes, in checking the Post-Dispatch findings, canvassed a total of 110 registrations. Of the 92 voters not found, 20 were believed to have moved to new addresses in Wellston or elsewhere in the county, the canvassers reported. Persons who have changed addresses within the county are eligible to remain on the registration lists by recording with the board a transfer of address.

17 Had Moved or Died.

The canvassers reported that "at least 17" of the 92 moved or died after the last official canvass was made in Wellston by the election board last March 4-5.

The board canvass showed that of the 92 voters not found, 13 voted in the April 1 election. The board reported all 13 were eligible to vote because, although each moved to a new address, he remained within the precinct in which he was registered.

Four of the voters who were not found were unknown to neighbors, board canvassers reported.

Eighteen of the 110 persons checked were found at their registered addresses. Board

KMOX Radio Engineers Join CBS Strike, Station Still on Air

Supervisors Take Over After 20 Electrical Union Members Walk Out — Newspaper Guild Respects Picket Line.

A strike of engineers against the Columbia Broadcasting System, which began in New York and six other cities last Monday, spread to Radio Station KMOX here last night. The CBS-owned station remained on the air, however.

Supervisory personnel kept the station operating after 20 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers walked off the job and set up a picket line. Today the line was honored by members of the American Newspaper Guild employed as writers at the station.

Negotiations were resumed today at Washington, D.C., with a member of the United States Mediation and Conciliation Service present.

Charles Scott, spokesman of IBEW Local 1217 here, said the St. Louis engineers decided to join the strike after it became clear that KMOX, which is a key station in the conelrad defense emergency system, would remain in operation.

Job security rather than wages is the issue so far as the members here are concerned, Scott said. CBS has offered a top minimum of $185.50 a week.

When the switches were pulled last night at the transmitter at Stallings, Ill., just across the Mississippi river, taking the station off the air, a supervisor stepped in immediately and threw them back on.

About 1300 employes are on strike in New York, Boston, Chicago, Milwaukee, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Hartford, Conn.

33 CONGRESSMEN SAID TO HAVE TV, RADIO INTERESTS

WASHINGTON, April 12 (UP) — Broadcasting magazine said yesterday 33 members of Congress have "interests" in commercial broadcasting or non-commercial radio and television stations either in their own right or through relatives.

The magazine said records of the Federal Communications Commission showed the interests were held by 11 Senators and 22 Representatives.

It said it issued its report in the interest of accuracy and fairness because an earlier report cited in news stories on the House investigation of the FCC.

"Although not one Senator or Representative is sole owner of a radio or TV facility," the magazine said, "several sole or controlling ownerships are held within the immediate families of Congressmen. Interests held by Congressmen range from controlling to token stockholdings."

HELP-WANTED ADS GIVE NO INDICATION OF TRADE UPSWING

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 12—No sign of an upswing in the current recession is apparent in the volume of help-wanted advertising.

B. K. Davis & Brother, of Philadelphia, specialists in help-wanted advertising, said that the 15-month slump in help-wanted ads continued in March. The total count of ads in 107 newspapers in major labor markets was 508,258—41½ per cent lower than the previous March.

The firm reported yesterday that for the first time in the eight years it has performed the ad-counting service, "not a single participating newspaper reported a comparative monthly gain."

"It estimated that no significant pick-up in employment advertising can be expected this spring.

FIRST STAGE OF VANGUARD IS TEST-FIRED ON GROUND

Successful Action is Step Toward Sending Up Bigger U.S. Sattelie.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., April 12 (UP)—The first stage of a Vanguard rocket was test-fired successfully on the ground today—a major step toward the Navy's coming attempt to put a bigger and better United States satellite in the sky.

Fueling of the 44-foot first stage of the three-stage satellite rocket preparatory to the static firing could not be seen by observers on the beach because the Vanguard service tower stood between them and the launching stand.

But when the 27,000-pound thrust engine was ignited, flame and smoke spurted from the deflector sluice beneath the rocket in a rising cloud. The test lasted for several seconds.

The Air Force, in a brief announcement, called the static firing "successful." The first-stage engine uses kerosene as its fuel and liquid oxygen as an oxidizer.

DAIRIES TO PAY MILK PREMIUM FOR MAY, JUNE

Effect on Retail Prices Not Clear — Action Follows Support Cut by Benson.

The effect on St. Louis retail milk prices of an agreement entered into yesterday between the dairies and the Sanitary Milk Producers cannot be determined immediately, a dairy official said today.

In a meeting at Hotel Melbourne yesterday, representatives of the major dairies agreed to pay producers whatever premiums are necessary during May and June to maintain wholesale prices of Class I milk at the level of the corresponding months of 1957, Russell E. Spaulding, general manager of the producers' organization, said. The agreement covers only the two-month period.

Cut in Price Supports.

The action was taken despite the fact that Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson earlier this year ordered that dairy price supports be lowered to 75 per cent of parity, effective April 1.

Pointing out that the number of producers meeting requirements of the St. Louis milkshed in March totaled 3813, or 354 less than in the corresponding month of 1957, Spaulding said:

"It is important to keep wholesale prices at a level which will encourage the production of milk, rather than drive the producers out of business.

"Actually, the agreement is in the consumers' interest, because if milk has to be imported from areas beyond the jurisdiction of local health authorities, the consumer will not know what he is getting."

May Not Affect Price.

E. C. Adams, vice president and general manager of Adams Dairy, said he did not believe the agreement with the producers would determine the retail price of milk.

He added that the retail price of milk sold in the stores has dropped 3 cents a half gallon since Dec. 1 in the St. Louis area and the present retail price "is the lowest of any major city in the country."

Meanwhile, Fred L. Shipley, market administrator, announced that producers supplying the St. Louis market last month received a minimum price of $4.25 a hundredweight for 3.5 per cent milk delivered the dairies. This was a 7-cent decrease from the minimum price paid in February, but 20 cents more than the minimum price received in March 1957.

Average daily sales of Class I milk last month decreased 3.04 per cent from February, but were 2.43 per cent greater than in March last year. The average daily production of milk last month was 6.64 per cent more than February, but 7.96 per cent less than in March 1957.

Sending of Fake Sputnik Signals Puts Three Radio Hams in Soup

LOS ANGELES, April 12 (AP)—Three electronic engineers have been charged with operating an unlicensed radio station that broadcast on the same frequency as the Russian earth satellite Sputnik I.

Assistant United States Attorney T. Conrad Judd said yesterday they did it as a prank on amateur radio operators attempting to track the satellite.

To be arraigned in United States district court Monday on the charge of operating the unlicensed radio transmitter are Rulon D. Jensen, 30 years old, and Deal L. Hanson, 29, both of Los Angeles, and Fred W. Field Jr., 29, of suburban Torrance. They have not commented on the accusation.

The phony signals were heard by monitoring stations as far away as Alaska, Georgia and Hawaii, Judd said.

The three engineers, who work at an aircraft plant, are licensed as amateurs to operate on other frequencies, but none was licensed to transmit on 20.005 magacycles — Sputnik's frequency.

The battery-operated transmitter was set up about Dec. 21 in a remote area of the Angeles National Forest and signals were transmitted automatically for three minutes every hour, Judd said. The transmitter broadcast automatically, Judd said.

18 CUBAN REBELS KILLED IN AIR AND GROUND RAID BY BATISTA FORCES

Castro Insurgents Forced to Flee From Position Seized Yesterday — Burn Two Power Stations.

HAVANA, April 12 (AP)—Government troops killed 18 rebels in an air and ground attack on a sugar mill today outside the town of Sagua la Grande near the northern coast of Las Villas province. Seven rebels were killed there yesterday.

About 200 rebels fighting for Fidel Castro against the regime of President Fulgencio Batista swept into the town yesterday and barricaded themselves in a school. Reliable reports said the rebels had landed on the southern coast of Las Villas three weeks ago and pushed toward Sagua la Grande, about 30 miles northeast of Santa Clara.

A Cuban army fighter plane swooped down on them with bombs and the rebels fled before government reinforcements from Santa Clara. The insurgents in their flight burned two electric power plants, four or five gasoline tanks, a small lumber mill and two railway baggage cars.

'Total War.'

This was the latest major outbreak in Castro's "total war." Yesterday rebels raided the copper center of El Cobre, 12 miles west of Santiago and touched off a dynamite explosion in a warehouse.

Santiago itself, heart of rebellious Oriente province, was quiet under the heavy guard of Batista's men.

Rebel raiders from Castro's strongholds in the Sierra Maestra invaded El Cobre before dawn. They were reported to have burned the city hall but left after residents pleaded that further burning would destroy the town, one of Cuba's most holy places. As they left they set off the dynamite.

El Cobre's Roman Catholic cathedral contains the shrine of the Holy Virgin of El Cobre, patron saint of Cuba's Catholics. Msgr. Enrique Perez Serantes, archbishop of eastern Cuba, said in Santiago the little wooden statue of the Virgin and its jeweled crown remained undamaged in an alter niche.

Other statues of the saints were broken by the blast and houses throughout the town of 2000 were damaged.

Santiago Death Toll.

Reports on the uprising in Santiago indicate it was more widespread and tenacious than the one quickly snuffed out in Havana. The Santiago death toll was put at 17 rebels and 2 government soldiers. There was no estimate of the wounded.

Just before noon on Wednesday women swarmed into downtown stores passing out leaflets calling for a general strike. Police rushed in to reopen business places after lunch but few employes returned to work.

Rebels raided the telephone company and killed a censor. Traffic vanished and by nightfall sabotage and bombings continued throughout the blacked-out city.

A downtown area of four blocks was turned into a battleground for two hours. Rebels raced through Santiago hurling gasoline bombs at government forces and official buildings.

After motor patrols ran down and shot rebels Thursday, the police and army claimed the situation was well in hand by noon.

RUSSIA CLAIMS ARTIFICIAL ARM OPERATED BY THOUGHT

LONDON, April 12 (AP) — Moscow radio claimed today that Soviet scientists have made an artificial arm which is controlled by thoughts. Most artificial limbs are controlled by muscles. "To perform any operation it is enough to think the relevant movements and the iron arm will carry them out," the Moscow broadcast said.

It explained the limb "is based on the use of bio-currents which arise in human muscles in response to commands proceeding from the brain" through the preserved parts of severed muscles. It is to be shown at the Brussels world fair this month.

PRINCESS GRACE SETS OFF BLAST, OPENS TUNNEL JOB

MONTE CARLO, April 12 (AP)—Princess Grace of Monaco today set off the biggest explosion in Monaco since the announcement of her engagement to Prince Rainier III.

She tapped a detonator, setting off 20 charges of dynamite to start construction on a tunnel under the mountains on which the 357-acre principality is perched. The railroad which now occupies choicest seacoast land will be rerouted through the tunnel.

Debris dug from the tunnel during its three-year construction will be used as fill to add an expected 22 acres to Monaco. It will be used for housing.

CONDITIONS SET BY RUSSIA RAISE NEW DOUBTS ON PARLEY MOTIVES

West Suspects Moscow May Prefer to Go On Propagandizing Now — Plans Reply by Thursday.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The United States plans to consult quickly with its NATO allies on formally rejecting Russia's terms for meetings to arrange a summit conference.

The aim is to get a reply to Moscow by Thursday. That is the date suggested by the Soviet Government yesterday for beginning talks in Moscow at the ambassador level.

Shortly after the Soviet note was delivered in Moscow, the White House branded as unacceptable the price Russia set for its participation in such preliminary talks.

The conditions stated by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko were contrary at every point to the known policies of the Western powers. This caused speculation here as to why the Russians sent such a note.

Speculation on Objective.

Two possible explanations were offered by officials today.

One was that the Soviets do not seriously want a summit conference in the immediate future, but prefer instead to go on making propaganda over the issue. United States authorities concede that so far the Russians are ahead in the propaganda game. The Russians are trying to persuade world opinion that they are more peace loving and more anxious for summit settlements than is the West.

The other motive suggested was that Soviet Premier Khrushchev wants a summit conference, but is confident that by manipulating world opinion he can force the Western powers to go into such a conference on Russia's terms.

The United States, Britain and France, acting on behalf of the whole 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization group, had proposed March 31 that diplomatic talks be started in Moscow in the latter part of April, to be followed by a foreign ministers meeting.

The Western Big Three said the purpose of the preliminary sessions would be to look into issues for summit conference discussion and eventually to decide on the date and place of a top level meeting, as well as who should attend. The preparatory talks would show the possibilities of agreement on major world problems, the Western note said.

Conditions Set by Soviet.

Yesterday's Russian reply pegged the Soviet price on three points:

1. The sole purpose of diplomatic talks would be to organize a meeting of foreign ministers by determining the time, place and participants. This would exclude any consideration of actual political issues.

2. The foreign ministers, when they met, would have the primary task of setting the time, place and participants of a summit conference and the range of questions which that conference could discuss. The Soviets would be prepared, the note said, to talk about some of the questions proposed for a summit agenda but only if there was "general agreement" that such questions should be talked about.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles interpreted the requirement for general agreement as meaning the Soviets wanted a veto with which they could block discussion, even by the foreign ministers, of issues they do not wish to discuss—particularly German reunification and the Communist rule of east European countries.

Russian sources here said there was a concession by the Russians in agreeing to talk about any political issue in a foreign ministers meeting. But Western officials said if it was a concession it amounted to nothing because of the veto provision.

3. The holding of a summit conference, the Russian note said, must not be made conditional on success in the foreign ministers meeting. The implication was that only on this understanding would Moscow agree to the preliminary talks.

This Soviet position is totally opposed to the Western view that without success in the preliminary talks, giving hope of positive results at the summit, it would be better not to have a summit conference at all.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

United States Ambassador John Hay Whitney flew to Washington from London last night for high level consultations on the subject of summit talks. He conferred with Prime Minister Macmillan before his departure.

MENSHIKOV SAYS PEACE OUTLOOK IS SLIGHTLY BETTER

CLEVELAND, April 12 (AP)—Mikhail A. Menshikov, Russian Ambassador to the United States, said last night that prospects for peace look slightly better.

"There must be a willingness on the part of both sides to get together and try to come to some sort of understanding and exchange of views," he said on his arrival here for a weekend social visit with industrialist Cyrus S. Eaton.

In a stopover en route here from Washington, Menshikov said in Pittsburgh that a summit conference is a little closer but there still are some obstacles to be overcome.

He said the ending of United States atomic tests would be a "very important step toward peaceful co-existence with Russia." With the ending of atomic tests, other steps would naturally follow, Menshikov asserted. These would include, he said, the end of producing atomic weapons and liquidation of existing stockpiles.

Asked whether this would not mean inspection to guarantee that various powers were obeying the agreement, Menshikov said:

"First you must agree on something basic, in principle, and then find out the details."

TELEVISION SETS NOW IN 83 PCT. OF U.S. HOUSEHOLDS

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—There is a TV set now in 83 per cent of American households. One family in 14 has two or more sets.

The Census Bureau reported this yesterday, based on a survey made at the request and at the expense of the Advertising Research Foundation.

The bureau found that TV set ownership still was increasing in January, although at a slower rate than in recent years.

The 83 per cent of American households with TV sets at the start of this year compared with 80 per cent 12 months ago, 73 per cent in early 1956, and 12 per cent in 1950.

About 7 per cent of all households had two or more sets in January compared with 5 per cent last year and 4 per cent in early 1956.

The 68 per cent of rural households with television in January compared with 63 per cent a year earlier and 53 per cent two years ago.

Entire City Being Picketed By Unions at Galesburg, Ill.

GALESBURG, Ill., April 12 (UP)—The entire city of Galesburg was picketed yesterday by pickets of the Teamster and Machinist unions.

For nearly two years locals of the two unions have been picketing the automobile dealers and garages of Galesburg in an effort to organize their employes.

But the unions began picketing the whole city yesterday after Galesburg and the Galesburg Chamber of Commerce joined in the "you auto buy now" campaign to push sales as an anti-recession program. This campaign, the unions charged, was an effort to "beat" their picketing.

The union posted pickets at all major highways leading into the city protesting against the "buy now" campaign. They also placed pickets in front of the Chamber of Commerce office.

The Galesburg Register-Mail in a front-page editorial termed the picketing of the entire city "ridiculous." Such action, the newspaper said, "results from irresponsible leadership."

The picketing of the garages and automobile dealers of Galesburg began after the unions claimed a majority of the employes wished to be organized. However, the unions refused to assent to a new vote by all employes of the dealers and garages.

YOUNG AMERICAN PIANIST CHEERED AT MOSCOW FETE

MOSCOW, April 12 (AP)—A young pianist from East Texas brought 1500 Moscow listeners to their feet cheering last night with a dazzling display of technical skill in the piano finals of the Tschaikowski International Music Festival.

Lanky, 23-year-old Van Cliburn from Kilgore, Tex., received a 10-minute ovation for his rendition of Tschaikowski's First Piano Concerto, Rachmaninoff's Third and a rondo by Soviet composer Dmitri Kabalevsky, one of the judges who wrote it for the contest.

His sensitive performance in the Rachmaninoff work and the fact he did not falter when a piano string broke at the end of the difficult Kabalevsky piece made him a favorite of the packed crowd.

Cliburn, who now lives in New York was one of two Americans among the nine finalists in the piano event of the piano-violin festival that has drawn talent from all over Europe. The other American finalist, Daniel Pollack of Los Angeles, will play tomorrow, the last day of the competition. Winners will be announced Monday.

RUSSIA STEALS SHOW AT TRADE FAIR IN JAPAN

OSAKA, Japan, April 12 (UP)—Russia stole the show today at the opening of the fifth international trade fair to be held in Japan.

The Soviet pavilion was bigger, better and more spectacular than those of the United States and the 22 other nations participating.

The Russian exhibits, with a model of Sputnik II, were the center of conversation. A huge globe showed the paths of the two Russian earth satellites around it.

While Russian radios, TV sets and textiles were inferior to American articles, the Russians showed more of all types of goods. Included were cosmetics, metals, medical equipment, cars, trucks, cameras, textiles, sporting equipment and pharmaceutical goods.

The Soviet booklets describing the exhibits were lavish photographic albums, with text in Japanese. The United States catalogues of American exhibitors were mimeographed sheets stapled together, with the text in English only.

FRESH LAYOFFS IN AUTO PLANTS AN 'IMPORTANT FACTOR' IN RISE

Department of Labor Says, However, That Figures Do Not Indicate Major Surge in Unemployment.

WASHINGTON, April 12 (UP)—New layoffs of workers covered by unemployment compensation rose by nearly 80,000 in the first week of April, but the Department of Labor said this did not indicate any major surge in unemployment.

The department's Bureau of Employment Security said further layoffs in the automobile industry in Michigan, New York, California, Indiana, Kansas, Ohio, Texas and 11 other states were an "important factor" in the increase.

The 79,900 rise pushed the total for those filing new claims to 501,800—the highest figure since January when initial claims climbed past 600,000.

Rise Normal in April.

The bureau said the number of new claims normally rises in the first week in April. But last week's total was nearly twice as high as the 260,000 total for the corresponding week a year ago.

On the brighter side, the bureau said the over-all number of workers carried on jobless benefit lists dropped by 2900 to 3,276,500 in the week ended March 29. That was the fifth week in which total insured unemployment had remained practically unchanged.

As a result, the jobless rate stayed at 7.9 per cent of the 43,000,000 workers covered by unemployment compensation, the same rate reported for the week ending Feb. 22. The total for the corresponding week a year ago was 1,508,000.

The unemployment benefit program covers about two-thirds of the nation's working force. Farm workers, domestics and self-employed persons are among the 29,000,000 not included.

Farm Jobs Up 13 Pct.

The Agriculture Department said yesterday that farm employment increased by 13 per cent in March but that the increase was not so large as usually occurs with the advent of warmer weather.

Other economic developments:

The National Grange, a farm organization, called for an immediate anti-recession tax cut of about $40 a person. It also expressed opposition to the Administration's "wait and see" policy on shoring up the economy.

In Chapel Hill, N. C., Budget Director Maurice H. Stans said the country could be wrecked by "financial irresponsibility just as much as by military carelessness." He urged government economy and a go-slow approach to tax cuts.

Government economists cited statistics on personal income and retail sales, along with the slowdown in the growth of unemployment last month, as providing fresh evidence that the recession has started to level off.

Income and Sales.

The Department of Commerce said yesterday that personal income and retail sales—two key economic barometers—continued to decline in March but at a slower rate than earlier in the year.

Personal income last month ran at an annual rate of $341,500,000,000, about $300,000,000 below the February rate.

Retail sales were $15,400,000,000, a drop of 1 per cent below the February total and 2 per cent below the figure for March 1957.

The largest increases in fresh claims for unemployment compensation were reported by Michigan with a rise of 21,900, Pennsylvania with 11,300, New York with 8600, Minnesota with 3200 and West Virginia with 3000.

The Labor Department estimated that 189,200 workers exhausted their jobless benefits in March. This would bring the total exhaustions for the first three months of this year to 481,000, compared to 314,400 for the first quarter of 1957.

By the Associated Press.

In Atlanta, Representative James Roosevelt (Dem.), California, called for a rebate on federal income tax returns for 1957 as a means of stemming the recession.

The son of the late President said in an interview that "a feasible formula would be to give each taxpayer $50 back on every dependent." Such a move, he added, would temporarily restore purchasing power in the lower and middle income brackets.

FRANCE WEIGHS COMPROMISE OF TUNISIA CASE OR APPEAL TO U.N.

U.S., Britain Will Not Back Ally in Latter Course—Right-Wing Revolt Threatened Over Concession.

PARIS, April 12 (AP)—Premier Gaillard met with his cabinet today to decide whether France will take its Tunisian dispute to the United Nations or accept a good offices solution which might touch off a right-wing revolt.

The mediation team of United States Under Secretary of State Robert Murphy and British diplomat Harold Beeley waited for Gaillard to make his choice.

Both men have been in touch with their home governments and Tunis where President Bourguiba is described as impatient. The lengthy dispute since France bombed a Tunisian village Feb. 8, on the charge it harbored Algerian rebels, has menaced Bourguiba's prestige at home.

Diplomatic sources said they expected talks to continue through the weekend even if France rejects further efforts by the good offices mission.

The good offices team has found more or less acceptable solutions to most of the disputed points. But Gaillard faces a right-wing revolt in his cabinet if he does not insist on strict controls over the Tunisian-Algerian border as part of any settlement with Tunisia. France accused Tunisia of helping the rebels across the border.

A right-wing wave of resignations would quickly tumble Gaillard's coalition government.

Both the United States and Britain are reported to have told the Premier that if he lets the good offices mission fail and goes before the U.N., he can expect no help from Britain or the United States. The two French allies have sought to maintain a middle position between France and nationalist forces in North Africa.

By United Press.

Murphy was reported to have told Gaillard the United States and Britain are anxious to maintain their long alliance with France but they consider it equally important for the West to maintain good relations with the North African nations.

The cabinet meeting was set for yesterday but was postponed after Murphy made an unscheduled visit to Gaillard. Authoritative sources said Murphy delivered the United States warning in a personal messages from President Eisenhower.

SAYS SHIP WILL ENTER TEST AREA DESPITE AEC BAR

LOS ANGELES, April 12 (AP)—The skipper of the ketch Golden Rule says he plans to continue sailing into the nuclear test area in the Pacific despite keep-out orders by the Atomic Energy Commission.

"We shall continue to sail into the test area come what may," said Albert Bigelow, who sailed the same area as commander of a Navy destroyer in World War II.

In a radio report to the mainland Bigelow, of Cos Cob, Conn., said he expects to arrive in Hawaii today or tomorrow, take on supplies and then continue the voyage to the Marshall islands as a protest against nuclear tests.

The AEC yesterday barred all unauthorized Americans from the 390,000-square mile test area.

JET SILENCER DEVELOPED

BALTIMORE, April 12 (UP)—Koppers Co. announced yesterday development of a jet aircraft silencer "95 per cent effective" in deadening the noise of a jet plane taking off.

Koppers said that the compact and light-weight silencer—which looks somewhat like a large ear trumpet — was tested successfully at the Patuxent River (Md.) Naval Air Station.

Truman Marks Anniversary; Took Oath 13 Years Ago Today

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Harry S. Truman was back on familiar grounds today for the thirteenth anniversary of his rise to President of the United States.

It was on April 12, 1945, that Franklin D. Roosevelt died at Warm Springs, Ga., and the responsibilities of a wartime presidency fell on the shoulders of the former farm boy from Missouri.

Truman said at the time it was like having the weight of the moon and all the stars come down on him.

The former President celebrates the anniversary tonight with a foreign policy speech to a banquet of the American Veterans of World War II.

Truman, approaching his seventy-fourth birthday anniversary next month, is much changed from the man who went prayerfully to the White House 13 years ago.

Nearly eight years in the presidency and the applause of fellow Democrats have given him increased confidence. He has become one of the most sought after speakers on the political stage.

To Be Witness Monday.

Truman arrived in town yesterday. He planned to stay over into Monday, when he is billed as the leadoff witness in House Banking Committee hearings on legislation to fight the recession.

Congressional Democrats were hoping to get mileage out of Truman's views on the economic situation. Banking Committee Chairman Brent Spence (Dem.), Kentucky, spoke of Truman's "great capacity for decision and for leadership in time of crisis."

The former Democratic President declined to tell reporters what he will say to the committee. However, a Republican group, headed by Representative Timothy P. Sheehan of Illinois, was getting ready for a counter-attack in a series of speeches planned for Tuesday.

In talking with reporters yesterday, Truman gave an indication of how he feels on some anti-recession issues. He was cool to the idea of a tax cut and challenged the view of some Eisenhower Administration officials that a public works program might be inflationary.

Truman dropped in late yesterday on a meeting of the Democratic National Committee's advisory council subcommittee on economic matters.

What the council group told him, Truman declined to say later. He would not say whether he agreed completely with its suggestions. He said he would save his views for the House committee.

On Changing Capitol.

Truman took a swipe yesterday at the "ignorant and uninformed people" opposed to extending the east front of the Capitol.

"One of these days the old center sandstone building will fall, and we will find the dome and Lady Freedom out in the middle of the avenue on which the Capitol fronts," he said. "I hope that does not happen."

In addition to his date tonight with the Amvets, Truman had an earlier engagement with members of the White House News Photographers Association. He promised to go to the Library of Congress to open the association's annual exhibit of the best photographs of the last year.

With President Eisenhower in Augusta, Ga., and Vice President Nixon away on a vacation, the news photographers turned to the honorary member of the "One More Club"—as Truman always called them—to do the honors.

3 RED NATIONS END TALKS ON WEST GERMANY

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 12 (AP) — Communist Poland, Czechoslovakia and East Germany today wound up three days of talks with an announcement that they discussed ways to combat possible arming of West German troops with nuclear weapons.

Statements to this effect were issued by Foreign Ministers Lothar Bolze of East Germany, Vaclav David of Czechoslovakia and Acting Foreign Minister Marian Naszkowski of Poland. The Czech news agency said the three signed a communique today at the Czech Foreign Ministry in Prague.

The contents of the communique were not disclosed, but the three issued statements urging adoption of Poland's plan for an atom-free zone in the heartland of Europe. They also urged support for Russia's proposal for a summit conference. The communique did not spell out how the three countries would combat nuclear weapons for the West Germans.

POLISH WOMAN WHO SET UP OWN TRADING AGENCY JAILED

WARSAW, April 12 (UP)—A woman who set up her own company in competition with the state bank and trading agency was acquitted of illegal activities yesterday but jailed for six years for bribing customs officials.

Mrs. Stefania Husiatynska together with her American cousin, Juliusz Hulak of New York, set up the Polish trading agency to send parcels from the United States to Poland.

When she received the parcels she sold them on the "free market" and paid off the addressees at the rate of 50 to 80 zlotys to the dollar instead of the official rate of four to one or the tourist rate of 24 to one.

French Miners Strike.

PARIS, April 12 (AP)—Nearly 300,000 French miners went out on a 24-hour strike today to back demands for more than $8,000,000 in productivity bonuses. Directors of the nationalized mines have rejected the demands. The walkout was the latest of a series of strikes in transport, utilities and other fields to support wage claims.

WOMAN BLOCKS 'GENTLEMEN' AND POINTING ARROW

KINGSTON, England, April 12 (UP)—Mrs. Margaret Spooner kept a watch today on a hole in the sidewalk outside her home, ready "to return instantly" to block workmen from trying to erect a one-word sign.

The sign reads "gentlemen"—with an arrow pointing the way.

Mrs. Spooner, whose husband is a schoolteacher, spent three hours last night sitting and standing in the hole workmen had prepared to receive the sign. When she refused to budge, they put warning lights around her and went home.

Today she continued the vigil, but from her window.

Mrs. Spooner's complaint is not necessarily that the sign points to a men's rest room.

"There's too much of this erecting of signs—road furniture, I call it—without considering the people who live near them," she said.

"This one is most unsightly, and I don't intend to let it go up."

The sign was ordered by the borough council.

RED GOVERNOR OF CHINESE PROVINCE FIRED AS RIGHTIST

HONG KONG, April 12 (AP)—Sun Tso Pin, a leader in the Chinese Communist party for 30 years, has been fired as governor of Chinghai province in the Peiping government's continuing drive against rightists in high places.

A March issue of the Chinghai Daily, received here today, said Sun was accused of sabotaging party unity, aiding and harboring anti-Communists and opposing the government's campaign against counter-revolutionaries.

Sun is the second provincial governor and one of more than 20 high-ranking officials sacked since the beginning of the year. Four provincial vice governors and three cabinet ministers also have been removed. There have been no reports of any arrests or imprisonment of the rightists.

Swiss Ex-President Dies.

PARIS, April 12 (UP)—Marcel Pilet-Golaz, president of Switzerland in 1934 and again in 1940, died in Paris yesterday of a heart attack. He was 69 years old.

JAKARTA REPORTS MOP-UP ON CELEBES

Rebels in Narrow Neck of Island Said to Have Been Cleaned Out.

SINGAPORE, April 12 (UP)—A communique by the Jakarta government's armed forces said today that they have "mopped up" rebels in the Donggala area of Celebes island, dominating the narrow neck that separates insurgent-held North Celebes from the rest of the island.

The communique made no mention of new fighting on Sumatra, saying only that loyalist troops are advancing into the "neutral" province of Tapanuli, straddling the northern approaches to the rebel capital at Bukittingi.

Loyalist forces have been halted for days at the northern border of Tapanuli, seeking permission to cross the province.

Army headquarters in Jakarta denied reports that Maj. Sahala Hutabarat, commander of troops in Tapanuli, has joined the rebels. At the same time, newspapers in Jakarta reported that the commanders of the three rebel battalions in Central Sumatra have deserted to the government.

The Jakarta regime repeated denials that it has made any arms deal with the Communists, but informed sources said some 20 Soviet-built MIG jet fighters are expected to arrive next month.

The Antara news agency reported that a six-man mission from Red Czechoslovakia is expected in Jakarta tomorrow to begin negotiations for "expanded economic co-operation" with Indonesia.

Antara said an economic co-operation agreement with Yugoslavia was signed in Jakarta today. The text of the agreement was not made public immediately. The agency said it concerns trade, the grant of Yugoslav credits to Indonesia and shipping.

GENERAL MOTORS URGES ROADSIDE TREES' REMOVAL

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

DETROIT, April 12—General Motors urged yesterday the removal of roadside trees and other potential obstacles, in the interest of safer highways.

To save thousands of lives, General Motors suggested unobstructed, gently graded shoulders for 100 feet on either side of the nation's highways.

Louis C. Lundstrom, director of General Motors's proving grounds, told the Governors' Conference Committee on Highway Safety that a two-year study of off-the-road accidents has pinpointed trees and other obstructions as major contributors to fatal and serious accidents. Lundstrom noted that 31 per cent of all automobile deaths involve vehicles running into objects off a highway.

OKINAWA CONDEMNS U.S. FOR BUILDING ATOM BASES

NAHA, Okinawa, April 12 (AP)—The Legislature of this American base last night condemned the United States for setting up what it called a world-wide ring of atomic and hydrogen bomb bases.

The island is believed to hold America's main stockpile of nuclear arms in the Far East.

The Ryukyus Legislature also passed a resolution condemning the United States for its land-buying policies on this crowded island chain and repeated demands for their return to Japan.

WARBURG CALLS FOREIGN POLICY OF U.S. BANKRUPT

World Affairs Expert Charges Country Has Bogged Down on Global Issues.

© New York Times News Service

PHILADELPHIA, April 12—James P. Warburg, author and authority on international affairs, charged last night that this country's foreign policy is bankrupt.

Speaking at the fifty-second annual meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, Warburg declared the United States is "bogged down in Asia, the Middle East, Africa and Latin America."

"In Europe," he added, "we have reached the final dead-end of a long dead-end street."

The two-day meeting in the Warwick Hotel is devoted to the theme of "Asia and Future World Leadership." It is being attended by 700 persons representing nearly 300 organizations, including 89 universities and colleges and 140 international, civic, scientific and commercial groups.

'A Global Problem.'

Warburg told the gathering that breaking loose from "our frozen, sterile positions is a global problem." He termed its solution as of far more importance than overtaking the Russians in the intercontinental ballistic missiles field or outracing them in getting a space ship to the moon.

"We are being defeated not in the dim reaches of outer space but here on earth—not in the science laboratories of the Soivet Union but in the minds and hearts of men throughout the world," he declared.

"We are being defeated not by strength or skill of our adversaries," he went on, "but by lack of empathy and imagination, by our fear-inspired clinging to the status quo in a period of ineluctable change, and by our national callous indifference to humanity."

Warburg, who served as deputy director of the Office of War Information in Europe World War II, said the United States seems to have lost its concern for humanity just when the country needed it most.

Cites Lack of Policy.

He suggested that the United States, to regain lost ground in Asia, must be willing to recognize past errors and approach the problem with a concern for humanity that rises above national self-interest.

"The sad truth," he added, "is that the United States held the future of most of Asia in its hands, and dropped it because:

"1. The Truman Administration had no Asian policy at all, except with respect to China and Japan. Its China policy was disastrously wrong. Its policy in Japan must await the verdict of history.

"2. The Eisenhower Administration has pursued a fatally wrong policy throughout Asia. We are no nearer peace in Asia than we were in 1953, after the fighting stopped in Korea."

(The Associated Press quoted Warburg as saying:

("We should stop treating the Peking government as if it were illegitimate, wrongfully imposed upon the Chinese people by the Soviet Union, and likely to fall of its own weakness and moral corruption. None of these things is true.

'Time to Get Off Brink.'

("What sense is there in talking disarmament at the United Nations with the most formidable military power in Asia excluded from the discussion? It is time to get off the brink of war with China, to make peace with China and to seek, by give-and-take negotiation, to reach fair settlement of our outstanding disputes.")

Moekarto Notowidigdo, Indonesian ambassador to the United States, defended his country's position as "uncommitted" in the East-West cold war.

The ambassador said it was regrettable that Asian nations are accused of Communism whenever they deviate from the West's conception of a political state. "Basically," he said, "their philosophy of life is the same as that of the Western nations. They believe in freedom."

Ambassador U Thant of Burma told the academy that the world issue at present is not only that of Communism versus Democracy. "The more essential issue," he said, "is the division of the world into weak and strong, the prosperous and the abject poor, the ruler and the ruled, the master race and the sub-human."

President Passes Up Round Of Golf to Work on Speech

Goes Over Draft of Defense Talk to Be Made Thursday — Plans to Go to Links Later in Day.

By JAMES DEAKIN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 12—President Eisenhower passed up a morning round of golf today to work on the important defense speech he will deliver next Thursday.

Mr. Eisenhower went over a draft of the talk at his cottage on the grounds of the Augusta National Golf Club, where he is spending the weekend. He planned to be out on the fairways this afternoon.

Thursday's speech, which will be carried nationally on radio and television, will deal largely with the President's plan for reorganization of the Department of Defense.

The proposal, aimed at giving Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy greater "authority and flexibility," has encountered signs of stiff congressional resistance. Mr. Eisenhower has said he plans to push hard for its enactment.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Mr. Eisenhower did some other staff work this morning—"letters and so on"—and talked by telephone with Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, the White House staff secretary, in Washington.

When the President is away from Washington, Goodpaster is his contact with the State and Defense Departments and the Central Intelligence Agency.

With the temperature at 59 in midmorning and expected to go higher, Mr. Eisenhower planned a round of golf right after lunch. His weather luck, not too good on other recent trips, is doing fine thus far this weekend.

He played 18 holes of golf shortly after arriving yesterday afternoon. The Georgia sun was bright, the flowers were in blooms, the temperature was in the high 60s, and the President, according to all reports, was in the best of spirits.

This weekend respite, however, will be shorter than Mr. Eisenhower's Augusta trips usually are. He plans to return to Washington tomorrow.

Hagerty said the President would confer Monday with Budget Director Maurice Stans, presumably to discuss the highway and rivers and harbors bills, which are awaiting his signature. A meeting of the National Security Council also is on the schedule Monday.

The Chief Executive is scheduled to fill a traditional spring roll Monday afternoon. He will toss out the first ball at a game between the Washington Senators and the Boston Red Sox, opening the baseball season.

After almost a week of generally bad weather in Washington, Mr. Eisenhower craved sunshine, and he found it here. The temperature was 65 at the Augusta airport when he arrived, and it went to 67 later in the day.

He hurried through the welcome, stepped quickly into his limousine and was at the golf club in a matter of minutes.

MOROCCAN ARMY UNIT TOLD TO KEEP OFF SPANISH SOIL

© New York Times News Service

MADRID, April 12 — The Spanish army in Africa barred a Moroccan army detachment of 1000 men from passing through Spanish territory yesterday en route to planned Spanish-Moroccan ceremonies at Villa Bens, it was reported here last night.

The ceremonies were to have marked Spain's cession of its former "southern protectorate" in Morocco to Moroccan jurisdiction. Spain has held this arid 25,000-square-mile strip since the original French-Spanish partition of Morocco in 1912.

Spain plans, however, to retain a military garrison of 1500 men at Villa Bens until the final Spanish-Moroccan agreements are reached on the boundaries and on the future of the 60,000 Spanish forces still stationed in northern Morocco.

Yesterday's incident led to protests from Rabat. The Moroccan foreign minister accused the Spanish government of unwarranted provocation and slights against Moroccan prestige. The Spanish Foreign Ministry denied the charges, particularly the reported arrest by Spanish troops of the prospective Moroccan governor of the area.

EAST, WEST SCIENTISTS URGE EASING OF NUCLEAR THREAT

LAC BEAUPORT, Que., April 12 (UP)—Thirty scientists from 12 Eastern and Western nations ended an informal conference yesterday with a declaration that "scientists have a special responsibility" to work toward easing the threat of nuclear war.

In a joint statement, the scientists said they had made a "serious appraisal" of world problems and favored a proposal for another conference expected to be held in Vienna, in September. Cyrus Eaton, Nova Scotia-born Cleveland industrialist, who sponsored the talks, left Thursday for Cleveland after pronouncing the session a "complete success."

Called to seek an end to the nuclear arms race, the meeting was a sequel to similar talks held in recent years at Eaton's family home at Pugwash, N.S.

COMPLAINT FILED AGAINST N.A.M. ON KOHLER FILM

AFL-CIO Assails Showing on TV Without Disclosing Business Group as Donor.

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The AFL-CIO formally complained to the Federal Communications Commission yesterday that 27 television stations broadcast kinescopes of the recent Kohler Co. hearings without disclosing they were provided by the National Association of Manufacturers.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, made the complaint to FCC chairman John C. Doerfer. He said FCC regulations provide that stations should identify those furnishing any program involving public discussion of controversial issues.

The hearings were those of the Senate rackets investigating committee into the cause of violence in the four-year-old strike of the United Auto Workers against the Kohler Co., Wisconsin plumbing manufacturing firm.

Meany said the AFL-CIO feels the arrangements between N.A.M. and the television stations "violate both the letter and the spirit" of the regulations.

In New York, Edward Maher, public relations vice president to the N.A.M., said when the N.A.M. found out the Kohler hearings were only to be telecast locally in Washington the business organization decided it would like to see them telecast to a wider audience.

He said a Washington TV station, WTTG, was making hour-long summaries of every day's hearings in addition to spot telecasts. He said the N.A.M. bought copies of the summaries and sent them to the 27 TV stations. He said the N.A.M. did not pay to have them telecast but understood each station obtained local sponsors.

"We had nothing to do with what WTTG selected for its hour-long summary," Maher said. "We just took their summaries for six days of the hearings and sent them along to the stations which had indicated they wanted them.

"We don't know if the stations said the broadcasts were furnished by the N.A.M. or not, although I can't see what difference that would make. If there are any violations of FCC regulations they are on the part of the stations, not the N.A.M. They know the rules and regulations.

LANA TURNER'S DAUGHTER STILL IN CUSTODY, HER FATE UNDECIDED

Not Freed by Justifiable Homicide Verdict — Court to Decide if She Should Return to Mother.

LOS ANGELES, April 12 (AP)—A coroner's jury yesterday found the killing of Johnny Stompanato justifiable, but the big question still remains today—what will happen to Lana Turner's teen-age daughter?

The movie star was the star witness yesterday in detailing the fierce arguments and threats that preceded Cheryl Crane's knife thrust into the abdomen of her mother's lover.

But Cheryl, 14 years old, today followed the same routine as the other inmates of Juvenile Hall. She wore a cotton uniform and black stockings, and she anxiously awaited tomorrow her first visit in a week from her mother and father, cafe man Stephen Crane. The only visiting day at Juvenile Hall is Sunday.

The coroner's verdict is not binding in any way on juvenile court, which will hear Cheryl's case privately on April 24.

It is not likely, legal sources agree, that the court will decide to try her as an adult on a murder charge, but it could. Most likely matter to be considered at the hearing will be whether the girl lacks proper parental control.

'Never Has Had Real Home.'

District Attorney William B. McKesson, who has no legal jurisdiction under California law in the juvenile cases, is the most outspoken:

"It appears to me that Cheryl never has had a real home either with her mother or her father. I think it is about time a proper home was found for her."

Superior Judge Allen T. Lynch, who will sit on the case, commented only: "I shall try to treat it like any other case involving a juvenile."

Judge Lynch had two possible courses:

1. He could turn Cheryl over to authorities for criminal prosecution since the inquest's verdict was not an order to the court.

2. He could rule Cheryl a ward of the court and determine whether the girl should be in custody of Miss Turner or Crane, or be sent to a detention home or some religious or private home for girls.

There is a possibilty that the daughter of a movie star earning $150,000 a picture and a father who drives a $12,000 car could be placed in a foster home of middle-class income, or a state institution for girls.

Testimony At Inquest.

Testimony by Miss Turner, Crane, police officers and doctors pointed to the panicky fear that prompted the dark-haired girl to kill Stompanato.

Hiss Turner, sobbing, testified yesterday about the argument on Good Friday night:

"He (Stompanato) told me he would cut my face or cripple me and if it went beyond that he would kill me and my daughter and my mother. . . .

"And after that I was walking toward the bedroom door and he was right behind me, and I opened it, and my daughter came in—and I swear it was so fast I truthfully thought she had hit him in the stomach.

"I still never saw a blade."

The quick opening of the door with the daughter standing there with the knife, Police Chief Clinton H. Anderson said, apparently explained how the teen-ager was able to completely surprise the husky former Marine.

The lack of blood on the pink carpets of the movie star's bedroom was explained by an autopsy surgeon who testifed that much of the fluid remained in abdominal cavities.

Learns of Verdict.

Cheryl, who did not attend the inquest yesterday, learned of the verdict at Juvenile Hall. One report quoted her: "My prayers have been answered." Another: "I hope my mother and father aren't getting hurt. I love them both very much."

While her mother was testifying, Cheryl and the other girls in the hall were engrossed in "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," a four-year-old movie made by M-G-M, the studio that made Lana Turner's name world famous.

Miss Turner had left the court before the verdict was returned and she collapsed in the arms of her attorney, the defender of Hollywood stars, Jerry Giesler, when the news was telephoned. She was immediately put to bed.

The actress rested last night in the pink bedroom that only a week ago was the scene of the fatal stabbing.

She hoped to get her "baby" back.

"No one can ever say I haven't loved my daughter more than anything else," she said. And Crane said: "Cherie has always been the most important thing in the world to me."

"Only time, the great eradicator, can help her," said Crane. "I know I want to do everything I can to help her forget."

Wants Custody.

By the Uited Press.

Discussing Cheryl's future, Crane said: "There is nothing more in the world I would like more than to have custody of my baby. But I don't want it to sound as if I don't think her mother should have custody. It puts me in a tough spot."

Asked about a possible reconciliation, Crane said: "Every time Lana has broken up with someone over the last seven years, people start talking about a reconciliation. A lot has happened since we parted."

DRAG RACERS GET BOLDER, PAINT LINES ON STREET

Drag racers in Affton, having eluded St. Louis county police for several weeks, are becoming bolder. They have painted start and finish signs on a strip of pavement.

Thursday night or early yesterday they painted the signs in the 8300 and 8700 blocks of Valcour avenue, using white paint to freshen a previous job done in yellow, which was largely wiped out by traffic.

The white paint likewise was smeared off, and the police did not bother to remove it.

Residents have complained repeatedly over the antics of the racers—roaring exhausts, screaming tires and loud talk—but the offenders have always been gone when the police arrived.

PICKED UP POLICY SLIPS TO TIDY UP WALK, HE SAYS

George Anderson, who said he lived in the 1200 block of Missouri avenue, gave an unusual reason yesterday in police court for possession of policy slips. He said he had picked them up on a sidewalk because he wanted to keep the streets clean.

Detectives testified they found the slips in Anderson's shirt pocket when the booked him at Central District Police Station on a gambling charge March 15.

"What were you doing with those policy slips?" Judge Robert G. Dowd asked. "Your honor," Anderson replied. "I found them on the sidewalk and I wanted to clean up the sidewalk. I wanted to get the trash off the street."

Judge Down fined Anderson $100 for his "street cleaning" efforts.

AWARDED $2400 DAMAGES IN SUIT AGAINST AUTO FIRM

Miss Anne Sterling, 4308 Olive street, a movie and television actress, was awarded $2400 in damages yesterday in a suit against the Wright Motor Co., 6111 Delmar boulevard. The case was heard by a jury in the court of Circuit Judge Michael J. Scott.

Miss Sterling, whose real name is Maria Ingrassia, testified that on April 23, 1957, she bought a used automobile from Wright Motor Co. and paid $600 down. Provisions of the contract specified certain repairs and replacement of tires, she contended. She said that when she returned to get the car the repairs had not been made and the company failed to refund the $600.

She said that she returned on two other occasions to obtain delivery of the car, and Kingsley O. Wright, manager of the firm, became angry, shook his fist in her face and pushed her, causing her to lose her balance. She charged also that Charles Lewis, a salesman for the company, struck her. Wright denied all the charges and said the company offered to return $475 of her $600. He said she did $125 damage to a company car she was using while awaiting delivery of the other automobile.

Registration

employes reported in some of these instances, voters were reluctant to admit their identity.

The board canvass was made in a three-day period by two teams of two board employes each. Canvassers said they made a total of 132 calls, 11 of them at night, to gather information.

Case of the Empty House.

The Post-Dispatch canvass was made after it was learned five persons were registered from an empty house at 6237 Wells avenue owned by Mayor Leo J. Hayes of Wellston and his brother, Robert. Mayor Hayes was re-elected overwhelmingly in the April 1 election.

The names of all five registered at the Wells avenue address subsequently were stricken from the registration lists by the election board. Names of two of the five, who, records showed, voted in the election, have been referred to the county prosecuting attorney's office by the board for "appropriate" action.

The board voted, 3 to 1, to comply with a request from other county officials to move from the Courthouse at Clayton, if adequate quarters are provided elsewhere. County officials said a number of offices must be moved to provide space for two recently created divisions of the circuit court.

The board later inspected quarters that have been proposed for it in an office building in the 7700 block of Carondelt avenue, but voted unanimously that they were unsuitable.

Oxenhandler said the board would refuse to vacate its Courthouse quarters unless other suitable office space is found. He said the quarters should be at a convenient place near the Courthouse.

WIDOW AWARDED $75,000 IN RAIL ENGINEER'S DEATH

The widow of a locomotive engineer won a jury verdict for $75,000 yesterday against the Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. for his death when struck by a train operated by that company.

The verdict in favor of Mrs. Edward P. Martinez, Mansfield, La., was returned in the court of Circuit Judge Ivan Lee Holt. Witnesses testified that Martinez, who worked for the Texas & Pacific Railroad Co., had just left work at Alexandria, La., and apparently was crossing the Missouri Pacific tracks on foot when struck. No one actually saw the accident, however.

Negligence was charged against the defendant in the failure of its engineer to see Martinez in a position of peril before he was struck. The train was just leaving the station when the accident occurred. The case was tried under Louisiana law which fixes no ceiling on the amount recoverable for accidental death.

TWO YOUTHS SENTENCED IN INSURANCE MURDER PLOT

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho, April 12 (AP)—Two youths who admitted setting off a dynamite explosion to kill a young woman and collect $20,000 in insurance were sentenced to up to 15 years apiece yesterday.

Charles M. Feely, 18 years old, and Monte D. Moore, 21, pleaded guilty to charges of assault with intent to commit murder.

Roene Gasser, 24, was injured by the explosion but is recovering. She was driving Moore's car on an errand. Moore was the beneficiary to the $10,000 double indemnity life insurance policy taken out by Moore for Miss Gasser. The prosecution said the youths set off several other explosions so as to suggest the planned fatal one was an accident.

THIRD STREET HIGHWAY TRAFFIC LANE REOPENED

The southbound lane of the Third street Interregional Highway at Elm street was opened to traffic yesterday following completion of a sewer reconstruction job that cost $71,000.

It had been closed to traffic for three months while the 48-inch combination sewer—45 feet under the surface—which broke down last year, was rebuilt. During the evening peak traffic hours, southbound traffic was diverted to the northbound lane.

COURT TO HEAR CASE OF C. B. & Q. BRIDGE IN COUNTY

The Cole county circuit court in Jefferson City yesterday took jurisdiction of the dispute between the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad and St. Louis county over building a new bridge in Bellefontaine Neighbors.

The railroad asked the court to review the State Public Service Commission's order that the Burlington build a new bridge over its tracks at Shepley drive, paying two-thirds of the construction cost, with the remainder to be paid by Bellefontaine Neighbors.

The commission's ruling followed the city's complaint that the railroad should be declared owner of the present rickety bridge, and therefore responsible for a replacement.

The railroad, in its petition for review, declared the county had accepted the present barricaded bridge as part of its highway system years ago, and therefore should pay replacement costs. The court took the petition under advisement.

YOUTH HELD FOR ATTACKING GIRL ESCAPES FROM JAIL

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BENTON, Mo., April 12—Joe Lester Slayton, who was being held on a rape charge, escaped with another youth from the Scott county jail here early today.

Sheriff Thomas Dennis said Slayton and a 16-year-old youth being held as a juvenile delinquent dismantled a metal cot and pried the bars of their cell door open far enough to crawl through.

Slayton, from Chaffee, Mo., was serving a term at Boonville Reformatory for automobile theft when he implicated Lynn Wayne Hester of Wellston in the fatal shooting of John A. Malugen, a Charleston High School football player, on a road near Sikeston on Jan. 5, 1957. Malugen's young woman companion was criminally attacked. Slayton, who is 17, admitted the attack on the girl and was to have a preliminary hearing in Sikeston Tuesday. Hester is held on the murder charge.

C. & E. I. RAILROAD ACCEPTS 7½ PCT. MAIL RATE HIKE

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP) — Postmaster General Summerfield announced yesterday the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad has agreed to settle its claim for higher mail transportation pay on a basis of a 7½ per cent increase. The adjustment will be retroactive to July 1, 1957.

The agreeement involves C. & E. I.'s withdrawal from a general proceeding now pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission in which the eastern railroads are seeking a 70 per cent increase in their mail pay.

That proceeding originally involved all of the nation's mail-carrying railroads. However, the Post Office Department has effected 7½ per cent settlements with all of the southern and western lines and with two New England roads.

EARLIER RECORD OF SCHOOL HEAD AT VALLEY PARK

Reported Fired at Steelville, but He Says He Did Not Apply Again for Job.

George S. Knight, superintendent of the Valley Park School District, was fired as school superintendent at Steelville, Mo., in 1950 because of inadequate accounting methods, G. C. Beckham, former president of the school board there, said today.

Beckham, who is prosecuting attorney of Crawford county and in 1950 also was Steelville school board president, said the board refused to renew Knight's contract "because of his failure to handle certain funds through the bank, as required by law, and also because of his lack of diplomacy in dealing with the public."

Knight, who is under fire at Valley Park following a state audit showing irregularities in handling school finances, denied Beckham's statement and said he had not been a candidate for reappointment at Steelville.

"I knew they wouldn't reappoint me so I simply didn't apply," he asserted.

Beckham said that Knight had been an "excellent worker" during his tenure at Steelville from 1945 to 1950, but said he operated some funds on a "cigar box" basis rather than keeping regular books.

Knight denied using such methods and said he accounted for all funds. He admitted that the Steelville district bought services and supplies from two school board members, but said these dealings were beneficial to the district.

In one case, the district bought meat for school lunches from a board member who operated a grocery, and in another the district hired dump trucks from a board member, because "he was the only man in Steelville who had dump trucks," Knight said.

The Steelville district had a deficit of several thousand dollars at the time Knight left, largely because voters rejected a school tax increase proposed by Knight, Beckham recalled.

In another legal action, Knight was fined $1 by a jury for common assault because of a beating he administered to W. R. Wills, then publisher of the Steelville Ledger.

Beckham, who as prosecuting attorney prosecuted the case, said Wills "didn't look human for a month" after the beating, which took place in Wills's office.

Knight told the Post-Dispatch he went to Wills's shop to "admonish" him about news articles and editorials in the Ledger, that a quarrel ensued and "I guess I lost my temper."

Mrs. Wills, who was in the office, drew a revolver from a desk, pointed it at Knight and snapped the trigger, but the weapon did not discharge.

"At that point I left," Knight said.

MISSING SISTERS, 9 AND 2, FOUND AFTER 16 HOURS

Doris Bement, 9 years old, and her sister, Virginia, 2, who were missing from their home for about 16 hours, were found early today as they walked out of the Northside Theater at North Grand boulevard and Natural Bridge avenue.

The girls, daughters of Mrs. Virginia Bement, 1818A LaSalle street, were last seen by their mother yesterday about 8:30 a.m. After Mrs. Bement had reported them missing, she discovered her purse containing $37 was gone.

Doris, a pupil at Clinton School, told Police Sgt. Edwin Henley of the Penrose district that she had left her mother's purse in a store and did not remember which one. She and Virginia rode busses and streetcars most of the day, she said, and then went to the theater last night.

STORE MANAGER HELD UP, ROBBED OF $3500 CASH

Victim Accosted in Ferguson Parking Lot When He Returns From Bank.

Russell Marshall, manager of a market at 932 Airport road, Ferguson, was robbed of $3500 in store funds last night by a man who threatened him with a revolver. As the robber fled in an automobile with an accomplice, Marshall followed in his car, but lost the pair in traffic.

The store manager said he had just returned to the market's parking lot from the Lindell Trust Co., 2745 North Grand boulevard, when the robber, a Negro, approached him and said: "Don't make any noise."

The robber grabbed the canvas bank bag, containing the money, and walked rapidly across the well-lighted parking lot to a waiting automobile, the engine of which was running. On the parking lot were store customers who apparently were unaware of the robbery.

Follows Escape Car.

Marshall ran to his automobile and followed the robber and his accomplice west on Airport road. Marshall said he did not get close enough to the other car to see its license number. He lost it in traffic in Berkeley.

Marshall reported the robbery to Berkeley police, who called in Ferguson officers.

The robber was described as being about 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing 150 pounds and wearing very dirty clothes. Marshall did not see the accomplice clearly enough to describe him.

The store manager, who lives at 302 Carrollton lane, Calverton Park, said he had obtained the money from the bank to cash customers' checks today. He told officers he believed he saw the robbers' car on the bank parking lot while he was there getting the money, indicating he might have been followed to the store by the hold-up men.

Robbed When in Car.

John Ellington, 5127 McKissock avenue, was robbed of $170 last night when he was sitting in a parked automobile in the 4200 block of Harris avenue.

Ellington said a robber jumped from an automobile that drove beside his parked car. With a pistol in his hand, the man demanded money. Ellington said he gave the man his billfold.

John Westrich, an attendant at a filling station at 6103 South Broadway, reported to police that a man with a pistol demanded to get into the locked station early today, but Westrich ran into a back room. The man fired several shots through the glass in the door before leaving without loot.

Earl Wiedeman, 1751A Nicholson place, was accosted by two men in front of his home last night and robbed of $35. The men struck Wiedeman on the head and hit him in the face with their fists. He was treated at City Hospital.

MADISON, ST. CLAIR COUNTIES VOTING ON SCHOOL BOARDS

Voters in Madison and St. Clair county went to the polls today to elect school board members. In one election, a bond issue proposal will be decided.

Edwin G. Barmann, under indictment on charges of omission of duty and malfeasance in office, is seeking re-election to the East St. Louis school board. The eight other candidates for two posts include Arthur C. Dauphin, who was foreman of the grand jury that indicted Barmann.

Polling places for the East St. Louis district's balloting opened at 6 a.m. and will close at 6 p.m. In other St. Clair and Madison county districts, polls were to be open from noon until 7 p.m.

Spirited contests were expected in the Belleville township high school district, where there are six candidates for three places, and in Collinsville, where five are seeking election to two vacancies. Up for consideration in School District 175 is a $310,000 bond issue for a third elemantary school.

VANDALISM AT CITY PARK

Thirty-seven panes of glass in the French doors of the boathouse at Carondelet Park were broken last night. Echard Krammer, watchman, reported to police.

Officers who investigated said the windows apparently were broken by someone hitting them with his fist. Blood stains were found on some of the jagged pieces of glass remaining in the doors and a blood-soaked handkerchief was found on the ground nearby.

2 ELECTROCUTED WHEN TRUCK HITS POWER POLE

East St. Louis Woman Thrown on Fence, Killed — Sister Dies Aiding Her.

Two sisters from East St. Louis were electrocuted early today when a truck in which they were riding knocked down a utility pole on U.S. Highway 40, eight miles west of Kingdom City, near Fulton, Mo.

The women were identified as Mrs. Georgia Sands, 45 years old, whose husband, James Sands, was the driver, and Mrs. Minnie Smith, 60. The Sandses live at 2509 Illinois avenue. Mrs. Smith's address was not learned immediately.

Missouri highway patrolmen said Mrs. Sands apparently was thrown from the truck when it went out of control and struck the pole. She landed on a wire fence on which a power line had fallen. Her sister apparently was electrocuted when she went to Mrs. Sands's aid.

Sands said he received a slight shock of electric current when he alighted from the truck. He was uninjured, however. The accident occurred, Sands told troopers, when he fell asleep while driving.

Warner J. Riemeier of Kirkwood was killed and another motorist was seriously injured late yesterday when their automobiles collided on U.S. Highway 40 one mile west of Olive Street road, Chesterfield.

Riemeier, 22-year-old machinist, died at St. Louis County Hospital of multiple injuries about two hours after the accident. He was driving west. He lived at 547 Drury lane with an uncle, Marion O. Riemeier, vice president of the Kirkwood Bank.

Injured was Delvin L. Schuessler, 19, sheet metal worker, Chesterfield. He suffered a fractured left leg and cuts on his right arm. His condition was described as serious in St. Louis County Hospital. He was driving east on the highway.

Patrick O'Driscoll, 64, laborer, 8545 Partridge avenue, was in serious condition today at City Hospital with head injuries suffered yesterday when he was struck by an automobile, the driver of which did not stop. The accident occurred when O'Driscoll was crossing Grand boulevard at Olive street.

What About That School?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Much has been said and more written about the number of unemployed in the St. Louis area.

Over a year ago, through a local election at a cost of approximately $90,000, the voters of St. Louis made available to the Board of Education a fund of $4,000,000 to be used for the construction of a high school in northwest St. Louis plus improvements at McKinley High School.

To date this program has become involved in school departmental bickering, lack of co-operation between the various city and school agencies.

Those of us in northwest St. Louis who are vitally interested in having a high school in this area are now being told the School Board is only morally obligated to provide the school. We have been given a list of stumbling blocks and excuses for not going ahead with the original program.

We are getting tired of waiting. Someone along the line is holding up this program, and we here in northwest St. Louis wonder who and why? William Di Mercurio

Questions for Jeff City

Why has the state government failed to disclose that Dr. Helen Kinney has resigned from the State Division of Health? Is it because of their grief at losing the best-qualified nursing director in the United States? Do they seek to hide external manifestations of internal unrest in the loosely administered Division of Health? Have they perfected a method for circumventing the state merit system? When will the Governor appoint a competent director of the division as required by law?

Too Much Oil for Texas

The people of Texas are again being misunderstood in the discussion about oil business generally and the import of cheap foreign oil in particular.

The majority of Texans feel that this cheap foreign oil will destroy the interest and incentive for our oil men to discover new fields and develop more efficient methods of production.

Since the national Government can't seem to get the co-operation of the importers of this cheap foreign oil to reduce these imports—produced by American oil companies operating in foreign lands in competition with American-produced oil—there is a solution I'd like to suggest.

The Federal Government and Congress might well consider stopping the special 27½ per cent deduction that all oil companies get off their income tax. This would apply only to those companies which persist in importing the cheap foreign oil. The deduction would continue for those producing American oil.

This plan should either effectively stop, by voluntary means, the import of this foreign oil—or make immediately available to the Federal Government untold millions of dollars to help avoid having deficit financing and make possible an immediate tax cut for everyone without the danger of having to raise the national debt limit again.

Here in Texas the state government is experiencing a financial crisis because a goodly portion of state revenue comes from the oil industry of Texas which is greatly depressed at present.

The Will to Life

The same day we read that the Russian proposal to stop bomb-testing has been rejected by our Administration as propaganda we also read that the Swedes are alarmed by the amount of strontium-90 that has been falling out in Scandinavia.

During the lifetime of the human race there had been none of this radioactive substance on our planet until the testing and use of nuclear weapons began.

These explosions created it, blasted it high into the atmosphere to sift down to earth over the course of years. It is then taken up by plants and by the animals that eat the plants; human beings get it in their food and milk; and it is built into their bones, especially the rapidly growing bones of children.

Cancer specialists say that thousands of people will die of cancer as a result of tests already held. Nobel Prize-winning geneticist Hermann J. Muller states that 300,000 have been genetically damaged—will have defective descendents throughout future generations.

The U.S.S.R. proposition is not just propaganda, because the Russians, including leaders, want health and life as we do. For the sake of all the human race we should immediately accept their proposal.

One Extreme to Another?

Alarm about the state of teaching in the United States flared high after the Russians launched their first satellite. But it seems to have been subsiding ever since the United States also launched a "moon."

Perhaps the first alarm was exaggerated. Certainly there was an over-emphasis on science, and a rather thoughtless demand that the United States should do in its schools just what the Russians are doing in theirs. But if the nation is justified in not heeding extreme counsels, it is not justified in sagging back into indifference.

Our schools should be firmed up. A weeding-out and a strengthening of courses is overdue. This does not mean that attention must be given exclusively to the education of the most talented—perhaps in special schools such as those suggested by Admiral Rickover. We must remain devoted to the principle of education for all. Yet as former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson said recently:

"We must not confuse the idea that all should have an equal chance with the idea that all have equal endowments. We must respect mental capacity and intellectual grasp. . . . Too often the elective system permits the student to evade subjects which will tax his powers."

There is at this time little need to worry that our schools will be converted into institutions for the training of an exclusive intellectual elite. There is more cause for worrying that our schools do not educate the average student to his fullest capacity. Many schools do not offer the instruction in the sciences and in languages which should be available to the average student. And if they fall short in this respect, can we be sure that they inculcate adequately those humane subjects which make for the wisdom of choice necessary to a self-governing people?

Improvement is thwarted not only by a shortage of classrooms, but also by a shortage of adequately trained teachers. Fortunately there are many well educated individuals who would make good teachers even if they have not taken all the teachers' college courses in education methods.

Many school boards are availing themselves of such help. Others, however, actually are increasing their "methodological" requirements. The New York State Department of Education has just issued new rules under which, for example, high school teachers of chemistry or physics will need only 12 hours of chemistry or physics but 24 hours of education courses. This change, effective in September, was made despite an appeal by the American Association for the Advancement of Science for a reduction in education courses and an increase in subject-matter courses. To quote Gov. Stevenson again:

"There has been no mobilization, no resounding, irresistible affirmation of our heartfelt desire for a better education for our children. Without profound change in the national attitude, schools and their needs will slide away again down our national scale of priorities, behind the automobile and the refrigerator, recreation and travel . . ."

A Sporting Coat-of-Arms

Some British heraldry experts have firmly put a professional foot down on proposals to portray golf clubs on coats of arms. Evidently they would be willing to permit a heraldic niblick or brassie to crop up here and there among the chevrons and trefoils if it were not for fear this might become a precedent. The next thing you know, they argue, tennis rackets, baseball gloves and other less dignified sporting impedimenta would be pushing into the picture.

They're the experts, and they have a right to their own opinions, however erroneous. But what's so dignified about golf? It has no more intrinsic worth, honor or excellence than any other game, including eight-ball. As played on most public golf courses in America, the so-called royal and ancient sport is more vexing and dangerous than ennobling. This is especially so on weekends when golfers have to wait in line hours for a chance to play. And then when they do get out on the course they need a helmet for protection against balls being driven at them by impatient sportsmen in the foursome behind.

For real nobility and dignity in sport, what is there to top the traditional across-the-net handshake of victor and vanquished in tennis which so often caps an afternoon of tantrums? Even baseball has moments of rare dignity when two players, usually an infielder and an outfielder, politely defer to one another while a fly ball falls between them.

What the British experts have decided for Britain is their business. But if golf is "worthy," other sports are not less so. Here in America if a Stan Musial wants to create a coat-of-arms featuring a Louisville slugger inscribed with his lifetime batting average, more power to him.

The Real Danger in Indonesia

The Red China radio and the government-controlled Indonesian press are having a field day with a State Department statement of last Monday expressing regret that Jakarta was buying Communist arms "for possible use in killing Indonesians who oppose the growing influence of Communism in Indonesia."

The statement, made by a spokesman, Lincoln White, was the sharpest reaction of the United States thus far concerning the civil war. It cannot be denied that the words could be construed to mean that Washington regards the war as primarily one of anti-Communist rebels against a pro-Communist government. There are other major issues. The rebels, largely concentrated in Sumatra, have cited economic injustices and a marked deficiency in legislative representation.

The United States has steered scrupulously clear of any entanglement in the war. Secretary of State Dulles repeated at his press conference Tuesday that it is our policy not to supply arms to either side, and he criticized Yugoslavia, Poland and Czechoslovakia for agreeing to ship arms to the Jakarta government. It was Czechoslovakia that sent arms to Egypt in 1955 soon after Washington rejected Cairo's request to buy.

Peiping radio charges that White's statement was an effort to "intimidate and blackmail" the Jakarta regime. It is hard to read that into what White said, particularly after Dulles again asserted the policy of no arms to either side.

Where the real danger lies is in the deal for Communist arms. The Jakarta government is known to be desperately short of funds. How is it going to pay the Communist bloc? Is it going to allow foreign pilots to fly the planes it is buying? If it has forgotten its earlier assertions that it cannot allow any kind of foreign interference in its domestic affairs, is it not about time to recall that statement? Otherwise, the Communist foot will be holding the door ajar.

Inching Toward the Summit

Diplomacy is the only art by which two parties can by backing away from each other eventually arrive at a tete-a-tete. This is what seems to be going on in the West's exchange of notes with Moscow on a summit conference. Each note looks like an outright rejection of the preceding one, and yet at the end of each exchange one has the feeling that talks are just a little bit closer.

The West, which is to say Mr. Dulles, apparently wants to postpone any conference until September or October. The Russians would like to start it sooner. We suspect it will be held when Mr. Dulles wants it.

So, too, Mr. Dulles is likely to get his way on the issue of preliminaries. Since Khrushchev is the suitor, and Mr. Dulles the besought, the Secretary of State is in a strong position to exact conditions. As the Big Three told Moscow on March 31, the conditions are that first ambassadors and then foreign ministers should meet, not only to discuss the time and place of a summit meeting, but "to examine the position of the various governments on the major questions at issue between them."

The latest Soviet reply urges that the ambassadors start talking next week, but evidently Moscow has not yet agreed to substantive discussions. And so Mr. Dulles, following his new policy of instant-action note response, rejects the Soviet reply even before there is time to formulate a detailed answer.

Our hunch is that, since the Russians want a summit meeting so badly and both allied and American public opinion are on the same side, these differences will eventually be ironed out and a conference will be held. But Mr. Dulles may have everybody bored to death with the subject by the time the heads of state meet.

Warning on the Plaza

The city's Land Clearance Authority has administered a stinging rebuke to the Urban Redevelopment Corp., the nonprofit organization of 69 St. Louis business and civic leaders responsible for executing the big Plaza housing project.

If construction in the Plaza is not started soon, the corporation has been warned, somebody else may have to be given this important assignment. It would amount to a black eye to the city's business leadership if this ever came to pass.

Judging by the terms of the corporation's obligations under a contract it signed with the Land Clearance agency last July 24, the warning by the municipal authority was not without justification. That document provided up to last March 24 for the corporation to complete its financing and other arrangements preparatory to taking possession of the land. The corporation did not even apply for its FHA mortgage insurance until Feb. 14, and its financing is still incomplete.

The Land Clearance agency is responsible for seeing that the Plaza ground, cleared and idle since November 1955, is put to productive use as quickly as possible. Its warning to the corporation may well have served as a most useful stimulant. Thousands of St. Louisans pass the vacant Plaza site every day. The long months of inactivity there have been depressing to the spirit and a poor advertisement for the city's progress.

Threshing Out the Pentagon Plan

Mr. Eisenhower and his Secretary of Defense, Neil McElroy, are explaining their military reorganization program well. Point by point they have replied to those who are fighting it or who simply are in doubt.

Last Thursday, the day after the President made clear to his press conference that there would be no military czar and no blank check on the defense budget, Mr. McElroy spoke at the National Press Club. He repeated what he said weeks before the defense message was delivered to Congress—that he would be satisfied with a transfer authority of less than 10 per cent of the Pentagon budget. That is an exceedingly modest request in these days of sudden invention and obsolescence.

What he had to say about civilian or military officials in the Pentagon speaking out officially against the reorganization plan is of the utmost importance. It should be noted because in a political battle of the kind that is shaping up there are likely to be charges that key individuals or certain witnesses have been gagged. After warning against opposing the plan in public, he made it clear that anyone testifying before Congress should "answer questions frankly and fully in light of his professional knowledge and experience."

That is as it should be. No one called to testify before Congress would have any compunction about speaking the truth as he sees it. But that is a different thing from organizing a lobby to fight the Commander in Chief.

Mr. McElroy was not exaggerating when, speaking of the need for having a perfected defense organization in being, he declared: "We no longer have time in which to change command lines or to shift from a peacetime to a wartime organization. Any such shift must be made now." Not to make the changes is dangerous as well as expensive.

A Teacher Foremost

In a memorable speech in "King Henry VIII" Shakespeare has Wolsey ask of Cromwell: "And say, I taught thee." Had Vladimir Jelinek cared for credit for his career as a teacher he might have made the same request of his students at Washington University. For he taught them in his English classes, and they knew it, and services in Graham Chapel at 5 p.m. Sunday should help to establish the memory of his work.

Born in Czechoslovakia, Vladimir Jelinek was at home in nine tongues and revealed the glories of Greek and Latin as readily as he presented the delights of Chaucer. He never bothered to complete the work for a doctor's degree.

But he knew that the mission of a teacher is to teach and that the prime requirement of the teacher is to have something to teach about which he cares intensely. He recognized the places of research and publication in a university faculty. But all else was secondary to teaching in the classroom. Our campuses could use more Jelineks.

Iowa, the Champ, vs. Kuban, the Challenger

Moscow Radio's Challenge to Friendly Farm Contest Deserves Acceptance

From The Des Moines Register

The Mirror of Public Opinion

The "challenge" to "friendly competition" between the farmers of the Kuban region of southern Russia and the farmers of Iowa sounds like a smart promotion stunt. Radio Moscow has been broadcasting this challenge, supposedly from Kuban farmers, during the last few days.

The broadcasts fit in with the campaign of Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party chief, for more meat and milk production. Khrushchev said last May that the Soviet goal is to equal the United States by 1960 in consumption of meat and milk per person. The Kuban is a fertile soil area north and east of the Black Sea. It has both climate and soil suited to corn and livestock. So it is a natural pacesetter for the meat-milk drive for the whole Soviet Union.

Some official of Radio Moscow probably cooked up the idea of a competition between the Kuban and Iowa. In addition to furthering the Khrushchev meat-milk campaign, this stunt also suits the Soviet line on foreign relations. Khrushchev has been talking about "war" with the United States "in the field of peaceful production." (That Radio Moscow fellow will go far!)

Whatever the Soviet motives may be, this is a field of competition which the United States and Iowa should welcome. In no area of economic activity is the contrast between the Soviet and American systems so striking as in agriculture. Output per man in United States agriculture is several times as great as in Soviet agriculture.

If the Russians want to compare farming in their most productive area, the Kuban, with farming in America's most productive area (Iowa, of course), fine! Bring 'em on.

Let's make it clear, however, that the comparison should be in productivity per person engaged in farming. This is the most meaningful yardstick of efficiency. Yield per acre contests are interesting and instructive, just to see what can be done with fertilization, irrigation and various intensive practices. But they don't mean much for international comparisons. The significant comparison between Russian and American agriculture is in the economy of human effort.

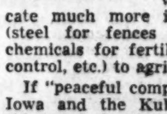
United States agriculture already is producing too much in total for the well-being of American farmers. American consumers are so well fed that they won't take any more food unless prices are cut drastically. The problem of American agriculture is to hold total output in check; in the Soviet Union, the problem is to increase total output, to improve the quality of the national diet.

Since the death of Stalin, the Soviet Government has been making strenuous efforts to increase farm output. A series of steps has been taken to increase incentives for the collective farms—higher prices paid by the Government, more freedom in farm management, the abandonment of compulsory deliveries by the peasants from their private plots and livestock.

Now Khrushchev has launched a reform in the machine-tractor station set-up. These stations which furnished the machinery and power for collective farms will now become repair and replacement agencies. The collective farms will own their own machinery.

In short, the Soviet Union has moved a long way toward decentralization of control of agriculture—and toward an incentive system to get greater output.

This is an encouraging development from the viewpoint of the United States. The more Soviet effort is directed toward "peaceful production" the better. The more the Soviet consumer is provided with the good things of life, the more he will want and the more pressure he will put on the Government to get them. If the Soviet Union is to catch up with the United States in meat and milk consumption per person, it will have to go still further toward independent farm management. It will have to allocate much more industrial output (steel for fences and machinery, chemicals for fertilizer and disease control, etc.) to agriculture.



Khrushchev

If "peaceful competition" between Iowa and the Kuban will further this trend, then let's promote it. That kind of competition is much better than another kind of competition which we could name.

The Blues of St. Louis From The St. Louis Argus

The evening sun went down recently on the remains of the man who made the expression famous. W. C. Handy was buried in Harlem seven days after his passing. The funeral cortege went down Lennox avenue with Cootie Williams playing a sweet trumpet. The mournful tunes of the funeral dirge gave way to the plaintive air of the "St. Louis Blues."

W. C. Handy was called the "Father of the Blues." He earned that title and he wore it well.

Several years ago, David M. Grant suggested that this city do something tangible in his memory. The aging and blind composer was pleased with the idea and promised he would make available certain of his personal belongings for inclusion in such a memorial.

The idea smouldered and was not resurrected again until under the first term of Mayor Tucker. This came in the form of an editorial in this newspaper when the citizens were considering the $110,000,000 bond issue for St. Louis redevelopment.

Proponents of the plan recognized the idea as sound and an effort was made to get expressions before the proper committee handling that phase of the vast program. Somewhere along the line, no one appeared at the hearing and the idea was lost in the oversight.

Today, the evening sun has gone down and Mr. Handy's memory bids fair to go with it.

We have no suggestion today for enshrining on our shores a suitable landmark to one man who helped make the city famous.

Memphis, long ago, moved ahead with its Handy Park and Playground. St. Louis, as in so many other areas, has been found wanting.

It is, indeed, the blues of St. Louis.

Between Book Ends No Prize at the End

A TIME TO BE HAPPY, by Nayantara Sahgal. (Knopf, 277 pgs., $3.95.)

In "Prison and Chocolate Cake," published in 1954, Nayantara Sahgal described her girlhood in Allahabad, India, her American education at Wellesley, and her famous uncle, Jawaharlal Nehru. Now living with her husband and children in Bombay, Mrs. Sahgal has written a novel that covers some of the same social ground as her earlier autobiographical volume, and captures more of the turbulent drama of the decade before India won independence in 1947 and shortly afterwards.

While not especially engaging as a novel, "A Time To Be Happy" does give the reader an unusually clear picture of the extent to which India and a few Indians acquired a veneer of British culture during the years under the Union Jack. There are some sharp insights into the temper of the times—such as the resort hotel's fancy-dress party for children, where the little Indian girl who won first prize had to surrender it to a little English girl and take second prize instead—and the wealthy Indian who eagerly donated a large sum of money to the British Club for a swimming pool that Indians would not be permitted to use.

But the characterizations of the Britishers who spent their lives in India, almost exactly as they would have if they had remained on their island, are almost too unsympathetic to be accepted literally.

The story is told in the first person by an Indian who is a young man in the early chapters and in his middle years at the end. Essentially, through his eyes, the reader sees how the moving social pressure generated by Gandhi's Congress Party is reflected in the attitudes and behavior of the well-to-do Shivpal family, and, less directly, the Sahai family.

Some, like the narrator, turn their backs on their English educations, take to wearing dhotis instead of business suits, devote themselves to native handicrafts, and go passively to jail. Others, like the rich textile-mill owner, Sir Harilal Mathur, who received his knighthood for his large financial contribution to England's war fund in 1942, prefer to disassociate themselves from Bharat Mata—Mother India.

Herself a member of an upper-class Hindu family, Mrs. Sahgal writes with knowing conviction when she tells about those affluent Indians who spent their lives aping the English gentlemen only to find that the prevailing system of social-values changed radically and swiftly after 1947.

In her words, "All struggling to to become nearly English would soon find it had been a hollow race and that there was no longer a prize at the end of it."

Once released from prison, the dhoti-clad followers of Gandhi assumed the positions once held by the officialdom of the departed British Raj, to the dismay of the unprepared "nearly English." Yet there is nothing in this novel of changing elites to suggest that the great masses of Indian humanity understood at all what was happening.

LAW EXPERT TALKS ON GOOD LITERATURE

Writers must be free of fear of censorship if they are to produce good literature but they cannot expect to be entirely free of legal limitations, Norman St. John-Stevas of Oxford University said here last night.

St. John-Stevas, a visiting fellow at Yale University's School of Law, addressed an audience of 150 persons at the St. Louis University School of Law, 3642 Lindell boulevard.

Sex, he said, cannot be separated from literature. He quoted Cardinal Newman to the effect that there could be no "sinless literature of sinful man," and said writings should not be censored because they produce thoughts of sex.

St. John-Stevas said the true writer or artist, even though free of external restraints, was automatically bound by internal restraints, including those of prudence, the moral law and his art itself.

St. John-Stevas said censorship should be limited to instances in which writings were designed to appeal to prurient interests. The word censorship, he said, produces strong emotions both in those who are "obsessed by the frailty of other people's morals" and those who believe anything and everything should be published.

"The result," he said, "has been that the debate, like so much public discussion of moral issues, has been notable more for its invective and abuse than for any rational assessment of the intricate problems involved."

"If a great literature cannot be created without freedom," he said, "neither can it be sustained without a sense of responsibilty on the authors' part.

"The greater the power, and the less the external restraint, the more urgent the need of interior sanctions voluntarily imposed."

St. John-Stevas expressed the view that the American constitutional position on the subject of literary freedom was more favorable than the British. He discussed prospects for making the British position more liberal.

"As for works of literature that are ethically incoherent and lack the moral integrity of the works of other ages," he concluded, "should we not reflect that our ire against them may well be nothing more than the rage of Caliban, seeing his own face reflected in the glass?"

St. John-Stevas, a tutor at Merton College, Oxford, is author of numerous publications on censorship. His lecture was sponsored by the School of Law and the St. Louis University Human Relations Center for Training and Research.

2 URGE END OF NUCLEAR TESTS AS HEALTH HAZARD

Dr. Walter C. Bauer, assistant in pathology and National Cancer Institute trainee at Washington University Medical School, and John M. Fowler, assistant professor of physics at Washington University, urged an end to nuclear tests in talks last night at Detroit, Mich.

Speaking on a program sponsored by the Detroit Committee for Sane Nuclear Policy, the St. Louis scientists explained how radioactive elements, harmful to the human system, are released and spread throughout the world each time a hydrogen bomb is tested.

"Once in the bone of humans, strontium-90, one of the radioactive elements that fall to earth from H-bomb testing, remains in the bone emitting radioactive radiation into the sensitive tissues around it," Dr. Bauer said. Fowler asked if any country had the moral right to continue an activity which endangers the health of the present generation.

1000 GUESTS DANCE AT LE BAL MASQUE

(Picture in Everyday Magazine)

About 1000 masked guests danced last night at the fifth masked ball at the City Art Museum. The affair was sponsored by the Women's Committee of the Friends of the Art Museum and Famous-Barr Co., for the benefit of the permanent museum fund.

The elaborate ball was called Le Bal Masque Espagnol, a name suggested by the annual Easter fete in Seville, Spain, which lasts for six days. Prizes were given for the guests adjudged to have the most attractive masks, some of which towered into elaborate headdresses.

Winners and their categories were Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Shoenberg, best couple; Miss Sunie Cabanne Smith, most original headdress; Mrs. Elmer E. Vorhof, most original mask for a woman; Miss Conrad Peters, most artistic headdress; Miss Carole Learn, most appropriate headdress for a Spanish ball, and Mark Nixon, most original man's mask.

At midnight the winners were awarded gold disks to be worn on charm bracelets or watch chains. Judges were Mrs. Rumsey Ewing; Mrs. Louis Werner II; Charles Nagel, museum director and Daniel Rich, director of the Art Institute of Chicago.

ANGLICAN STUDY URGES APPROVAL OF BIRTH CONTROL

© New York Times News Service

LONDON, April 12—A committee convened by the Church of England recommended yesterday that religious opposition to birth control be dropped.

The recommendation was made by a group of 19 theologians and sociologists "convened at the behest of the Archbishop of Canterbury."

The opinion of the group was published in a 220-page book entitled "The Family in Contemporary Society." It is a report to be submitted to Anglican and Episcopalian bishops from all over the world at the Lambeth conference here this summer.

One section of the report said, ". . . if our conscience will not tolerate . . . a torrent of infant deaths, no more should we, with the knowledge we have, encourage an ungoverned spate of unwanted births."

PRINCESS SORAYA IN GENEVA EN ROUTE TO UNITED STATES

GENEVA, April 12 (AP) — Princess Soraya, divorced wife of the Shah of Iran, arrived here today en route to the United States looking carefree and rested.

Wearing a bright red coat and a close-fitting beige feather hat, the former Queen swept past waiting newsmen and photographers and ignored the curious stares of fellow passengers.

Soraya, whose father is Iran's ambassador to West Germany, came here from Cologne where she has been living since the Shah divorced her for failing to bear an heir to his throne. She was accompanied by her mother and brother. The party was expected to remain in Geneva until tomorrow, then depart for Genoa, Italy, to sail for New York Monday aboard the American liner Constitution.

Dahlberg Urges Church Press To Defend American Freedoms

"Satan Attends a Press Conference" was the title of an address made at Chicago Wednesday by the Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg of St. Louis, president of the National Council of Churches. He is pastor of Delmar Baptist Church. He spoke at a luncheon of the Associated Church Press, which represents religious journals and denominational papers.

The Rev. Dr. Dahlberg, explaining that he was "engaging in a bit of expository humor," said: "A pretty good case can be made for the thesis that the temptation of Jesus in the wilderness came to him in the form of a press conference, or at least a newspaper interview. Clear back to the days of Job, you will remember, Satan has been a roving reporter, going to and fro in the earth, walking up and down in it, and giving everything a complete coverage. . . .

"Satan played his last card by taking our Lord up to the top of Mount Scopus and showing him all the kingdoms of the world: the parliaments, the Pentagons, the Red Squares, the Colosseums, the Hollywood Bowls, the banners and the bands.

'Take a Tip.'

" 'There it is!' said the Devil. 'It's all yours, Sir, if you will be smart enough to take a tip from me, and follow the strategy I would like to outline to you. For example, soften your pronouncements down a bit, maybe? And not antagonize people quite so much?'

"The interview was decisively terminated," the Rev. Dr. Dahlberg said, "when Jesus said, 'Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him alone shalt thou serve.' . . .

"Our whole Christian order is at the point now where we must take a powerful step toward massive reconciliation in every realm of human relations: science and religion; peace and disarmament among the nations; a Christlike fellowship of the white race with the colored races; a de-Mammonizing of management, labor and the church; the limitation not only of the nuclear bomb but of the population bomb; and an energizing of the whole process of education with new moral and spiritual power. . . .

"If the church press is going to fulfill its prophetic function it must come powerfully to the defense of all our basic American freedoms: the rights of a free and responsible journalism, a free and responsible pulpit, a free and responsible education, and the right of free petition. All these fundamental American principles are being endangered today by pressure groups and hate groups whose power is appalling. . . .

Anonymous Letters.

"It is only in the Nazi, Fascist, and Communistic systems that citizens have no right to speak, and must leave it all to the professionals. In my present position in the National Council I have been disturbed more than I can say by the stream of anonymous letters reviling me personally, reviling the churches, reviling Negroes, reviling Jews, reviling everybody who takes a position contrary to the hate propagandists. It is a revelation of the deep springs of unhappiness and frustration in the darkest depths of the human heart. How many wrongs must be rectified in our social order before these satanic hatreds can be dissolved!

"We must depend upon the church journals to challenge the churches to bolder social action. There was a time when the ministers exposed the crime rings and the political racketeers. Now the newspaper reporters and columnists are the ones who dig up the facts and bring criminals to justice.

CLOTHING SOUGHT FOR RURAL AREAS

The annual collection of clothing and nonperishable foods for needy mission areas in Missouri will be conducted Thursday through Sunday, April 20, by the Archdiocesan Union of the Holy Name Society. The drive is also supported by the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Men, and is approved by the Rural Life and Home Mission Conference.

"This year's collection for our needy rural neighbors is most urgent because of the havoc wrought by recent floods and tornadoes in the Bootheel and central Missouri areas, and unemployment brought about by the virtual shutdown of tiff mines in the Old Mines-Potosi area," according to Otto R. Steger of St. Louis, chairman of the drive. He is a member of St. Gabriel's Holy Name Society.

The Rev. Joseph M. Kohler of St. Bridget's parish, St. Louis, represents the mission conference.

All items of clothing are needed, but particularly children's and men's wear, canned and dried foodstuffs, and linens and rugs, Steger said. Cash donations may be made to the Archdiocesan Union, Holy Name Society, 4475 Lindell boulevard.

A central depot at 5210 Forest Park boulevard will be open for collection beginning next Saturday through Sunday, April 27. The depot will be open weekdays from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Sundays 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

ORTHODOX HOLD EASTER SERVICE AT MIDNIGHT

Eastern Orthodox churches will celebrate Easter beginning at midnight tonight. Their date for Easter is a week later than in Christian churches of the Western tradition because the Eastern church requires that it follow the Jewish Passover.

Orthodox churches of St. Louis celebrated Holy week this week, and were holding special Holy Saturday services today.

The Easter service, called the Matins of the Resurrection, begins at midnight, with the church in complete darkness. The priest takes the vigil candle and passes its light to the worshipers, who are holding candles. The priest leads the people in singing hymns of the resurrection. In many Orthodox churches the priest leads the congregation outside the church, then he reads the Gospel story of the Resurrection.

At 3 p.m. tomorrow the Eastern Orthodox churches of the St. Louis area will unite in Easter vesper services at Assumption Greek Orthodox Church, 1212 Academy avenue. The Gospel lessons are read and hymns are sung in various languages at this service.

Hawks Going for Big Payoff Tonight Against Backs-to-Wall Celts

Hannum Expects Another Sizzler

By Harold Flachsbart

Neither team has managed to win two games in succession in the National Basketball Association playoff finals but the Hawks hope to break the alternating victory pattern tonight and capture professional basketball's highest honors.

The sixth title series meeting of the Hawks and defending champion Boston Celtics—and the last pro game of the season in St. Louis—will start at 8:30 at Kiel Auditorium.

It's the point of no return for the Celtics, who defeated the same Hawks in seven grueling games last spring but who now have their backs to the wall. St. Louis has a 3-2 edge, with victories in the first, third and fifth games of the best-of-seven series — two of them away from home—and will be bearing down to bring this city its first world hardwood championship.

This is just the third season that the Hawks, owned by Ben Kerner, have been in St. Louis.

Coach Alex Hannum, taking part himself in a practice session yesterday at the Concordia field house, said his Hawks were in good physical shape and rarin' to go. "If we play good on defense and control the boards, we have a lot going for us," he said.

Uncertainty As to Russell.

The big question mark in the Boston camp is Bill Russell, 6-foot-10 rebound king who has missed the last two games and part of another because of a sprained ankle.

Russell will be in uniform tonight but it is doubtful he will see action. Dr. Edward Browne, the Celtics' team physician, said earlier this week that Russell should refrain from sports competition for three weeks.

"We sure miss him, but we don't want to subject him to the risk of a permanent injury," said Coach Red Auerbach.

There were other ailments in the Celtic family. Bob Cousy's foot still was bothering him. Bill Sharman's knee injury, definitely a handicap to his play last Wednesday in Boston, was reported some better. Arnie Risen, ailing with sinusitis, said he felt better.

"Anything Can Happen."

The Hawks, who have a great respect for the Celtics, with or without Russell, feel that Cousy is likely to rise to the occasion and play one of his great games. It will be up to Slater Martin, who has outplayed Cousy several times in this series, to watch him.

"Anything can happen in a playoff game, no matter how much things seem in your favor," said Hannum. "You cannot guarantee that the ball will go in the basket. Our offense is reasonably well set and should take care of itself. Defense takes hard work and the control of the boards. If we have the ability, we'll still have to work hard to get the ball.

"Boston is a powerful team, with Cousy and Sharman two of the greatest present-day pros and Tom Heinsohn and Frank Ramsey good enough for the East All-Star team, if that many players from one team were eligible. With Russell and the strong bench, the Celtics are certainly formidable. We're glad to be leading them.

"It doesn't make any difference what day, what time of the day or what part of the year, the Hawks must be at the top of their game and put forth a maximum effort to beat them."

Two Hawks Lead Scoring.

The Hawks themselves have a couple of great players and the high scorers of the series in Cliff Hagan, hard-driving frontliner, and Bob Pettit, former league scoring champion. Hagan has tallied 136 points, or an average of 27.2 in the five games of the finals. He had 154 against Detroit in five earlier playoff games.

Pettit, with a 33-point surge Wednesday night at Boston as the Hawks hung on for a 102-100 victory, now has 126, more than any member of the Celtic squad. Ramsey, the aggressive teammate of Hagan at the University of Kentucky, tops the Boston team with 110 points.

If the Celtics win and square the series a third time in the see-saw sequence, the seventh and deciding game will be played Monday night at the Boston Garden.

It was Jack Coleman, one of the valuable Hawk reserves playing probably his last season, who said, as the St. Louis team left Boston Thursday morning: "I never want to see this Boston airport again."

It was a year ago—on April 13—that Bob Pettit scored 39 points as the Celtics won the seventh game from the Hawks in two overtime periods, 125-123. And Pettit was the high scorer of the final National Basketball Association series with 298 points.

He could be the high man in the current playoff but has lots of competition on both sides.

Of the 10 players named to the first two league all-star teams recently, six are engaged in the current series . . . Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman of the Celts were first-team choices along with Pettit. . . . The Hawks' Slater Martin and Cliff Hagan were named to the second team with Bill Russell of Boston.

The Hawks in the first five games shot .384 from the field and Boston .365. At the free throw line, the Celtics were better, .762 to .728.

Part owner of the Celtic team is Lou A. Pieri, who also owns the Providence (R.I.) hockey team which opposed the St. Louis Flyers in a bitter seven-game ice playoff nine years ago.

Busso Floors Boardman Seven Times; Wins Fight on TKO

BOSTON, April 12 (UP)—Johnny Busso looked for bigger game today after proving to 620 ringside fans and a national television audience that his win over one-time lightweight contender Larry Boardman 10 months ago was no fluke.

Busso, a sharp-hitting youngster from Astoria, N.Y., sent Boardman to the deck seven times at Mechanics Building last night before stopping the Marlboro, (Conn.), fighter at 2:59 of the ninth in a scheduled 10-rounder.

Busso, 23, took a lopsided decision win from Boardman last June 28. He was subbing last night for Gale Kerwin, who withdrew several weeks ago claiming anemia.

The tenth-ranked Busso slashed his way to a victory in one of the most savage fights seen here in years. He was down for a four count himself in the sixth, but dealt the 22-year-old Boardman a terrific licking before and after.

In his first bout since a seven-week hitch in the Army, Busso nearly ended it in the opening stanza when he knocked Boardman down twice within the first minute. Throwing left hooks, jabs and stinging rights he had Boardman down three times in the fifth before the two ninth-round knockdowns.

"I'm interested in Ralph Dupas next if he'll give me a shot," said Busso in his dressing room, referring to the third-ranked lightweight contender from New Orleans.

"But it's strictly up to my manager," he added quickly.

Boardman said he would take a little vacation again. "But it isn't because of this fight. I'm in the Marine Reserve and I'll be leaving May 3 for six months service," Boardman said.

Affton Pitcher Hurls No-Hitter

RALPH STEVENSON, senior right-hander, yesterday put Affton in the winning column for the first time this season with a no-hit, 2-0 baseball triumph over visiting Lindbergh High.

The victors collected only two hits off the Lindbergh pitchers.

Bucs Said to Owe $55,000 If Klu Stays

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 12 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said today that Ted Kluszewski apparently never suffered a slipped disc and that the Pittsburgh Pirates will pay $55,000 to the Cincinnati Redlegs if he is still with the club at the start of the season.

Al Abrams, Post-Gazette sports editor, said the money will be paid to complete the trade in which the Pirates exchanged Dee Fondy for Kluszewski. The trade had been announced as an even swap.

Kluszewski had been complaining of back pains the past two seasons. The ailment was diagnosed as a slipped disc and there was some speculation whether he would play again.

In another story, baseball writer Jack Hernon said "Perhaps it wasn't such a calculated rick Joe Brown (Pirate general manager) took last December when he acquired Kluszewski for Fondy."

Hernon said examination by a Pirate medical specialist "showed there was no slipped disc."

Both Brown and Gabe Paul, general manager of the Redlegs, declined comment on the stories.

On another front, the New York Yankees came home today for an exhibition with the Philadelphia Phillies and with Manager Casey Stengel starring intently at his ouija board.

Stengel said Elston Howard probably will be his left fielder when the official season opens in Boston Tuesday.

Yankee Shortstop Tony Kubek pulled his left thigh muscle in yesterday's 14-2 shellacking of Richmond of the International League. It just may keep him out of the opening day lineup. So what will Stengel do? Take a look at his oûija board and switch Gil McDougald back to short and install Bobby Richardson at second base.

Nebraska added three runs in the second and single markers in the sixth and eighth innings.

Missouri scored once in the third and twice in the fifth. oghue took the loss. He was batted from the mound in the second.

The score by innings:

Birds Get Parting Bouquet From Lopez

By Bob Broeg
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

KANSAS CITY, April 12—The Chicago White Sox, a go-go ball club hoping to parlay speed, defense and pitching into a pennant, today pointed a finger at the Cardinals' staff as holding the key to the Redbirds' chances in the National League.

"I like that club," said Manager Al Lopez, summing up the American League team's view of the Cardinals, "but they'll have to show more pitching."

Lopez and his players, asked for an appraisal of the Redbirds, felt the Cardinals had the necessary offense. Al Smith, the Chisox outfielder from Kirkwood, expressed it best.

"You look at that batting order of Blasingame, Dark, Musial, Ennis and Boyer as the first five hitters," said Smith, "and you know they'll score."

White Sox respect for the steadiness of the Cardinals' attack must be genuine because seldom in their 11-game series this spring did Gussie Busch's employes damage Chicago pitching, probably the best in the big leagues. The Comiskeys took the last one yesterday at Omaha, 3 to 1, and went their way with a decisive seven-to-four edge over the St. Louis Nationals.

Musial Homers.

Dick Donovan, a 16-game winner rated second only to Billy Pierce on the White Sox staff, scattered five hits in eight innings and was scored upon only when Stan Musial homered in the sixth for the first Redbird run off the slick slider specialist in 13 innings.

Lindy McDaniel, the Cardinals' best spring pitcher, was slightly off form after the Sox broke his string of 11 consecutive scoreless innings in the second, a frame in which Earl Torgeson walked, stole second and scored on Al Smith's single. Sherm Lollar's double brought in Smith.

Chicago's third run came in the fifth on Luis Aparicio's walk, an infield out and Billy Goodman's short soingle on which the swift Venezuelan practically outran Irv Noren's good throw to the plate.

Aparicio also delighted a 7652 Omaha crowd with his sensational fielding. The 5-foot-8, 152-pound third-year man, just 24, seems to have even more range than Cincinnati's Roy McMillan at shortstop. And he rates prominently among the reasons the Sox hope to bring Chicago its first American League pennant since 1919.

The Big Question.

On the barnstorming trip the impressive Chisox showed better pitching, speed, defense and attack than the Cardinals. Whether they'll hit over a season as well as the Redbirds figure to do is the big question. Both Lopez and Smith are certain the Kirkwood athlete's inflamed tendon will permit him to play left field.

"Our key man is Ron Jackson," said Lopez, referring to his towering young first baseman who hit .310, 21 homers and drove in 107 runs at Indianapolis. "If he gives us the long ball, I believe we'll beat the Yankees."

If the Cardinals hope to see their spring sparring partners before next year, Fred Huchinson will have to get some of the pitching that is Chicago's long-suit. Ask the Chisox.

Redbird Notes.

KANSAS CITY, April 12—Sam Jones and probably Larry Jackson will pitch against Kansas City's Alex Kellner and Ralph Terry this afternoon in the opener of a three-game weekend series for the Missouri Governor's cup.

General Manager Bing Devine flew in from St. Louis to see the Cardinals for the first time since they left St. Petersburg 10 days ago. Devine is certain the Cards' pitching is sounder than it showed recently. . . . Al Dark's left forearm was struck by a pitch in the first inning and the veteran infielder left the lineup with a painful bruise, but the injury was considered not serious.

Benny Valenzuela, filling in at third base, made a good stop behind the bag and followed with a strong accurate throw to retire Sherm Lollar in the fourth inning. . . . Wally Moon was shaken up when he and Don Blasingame collided chasing a foul fly Moon caught in the ninth. . . . Herm Wehmeier, pitching two scoreless innings, picked Ted Beard off first in the ninth. . . . Chicago stole 109 bases last year and swiped two out of three yesterday, giving Lopez's swifties 21 in 28 spring tries.

Jackson Has 144 Score in Western Golf

DELRAY BEACH, Fla., April 12 (AP)—A threesome made up of Dr. Edgar Updegraff, defending champion; James (Billy) Key and Martin Stanovich holds the spotlight in the final two qualifying rounds of the Western amateur today.

The 16 low scorers for the 72 holes start match play for the championship Sunday at the country club of Florida course.

The field of 104 was cut to 50 at the end of the second medal round Friday, with Key, a 27-year-old bank vice president from Columbus, Ga., low man at 71-71—142, a stroke ahead of Jack Penrose of Miami.

Stanovich's record 69 did not stand long. Late in the showery afternoon Penrose came in with a 68 to grab the runnerup spot.

Several highly regarded entrants were bunched at 144, still in strong contention for the medal. They included the burly Stanovich, playing out of Miami Beach; Updegraff; Mason Rudolph, the 1956 champion now playing out of Fort Chaffee, Ark.; Ben Smith of Birmingham, Mich.; Eddie Hopkins Jr. of Abilene, Tex., and James Jackson of Kirkwood, Mo.

Eighteen of the survivors had scores of 150 or better, and 157 was necessary to qualify. None of the more highly regarded contenders failed to make today's rounds.

National amateur champion Hillman Robbins, whose opening day 78 was a surprise, returned to his usual game with a par 72 Friday to be safely in the field with a 150 total.

Earl Buchholz Plays Buckley In Tennis Meet

HOUSTON, April 12 (AP)—Top-seeded Earl Buchholz of St. Louis reached the semifinals of the River Oaks junior tennis tournament yesterday with the loss of only three games.

The 17-year-old Missourian defeated Richard Halter, Houston, 6-0, 6-1 and Donnie Brewington of Shawnee, Okla., 6-0, 6-3.

Two rounds were played, reducing the singles field to the semifinals, which will be held today.

Except for a mild upset when fifth-seeded Bill Buckley of Oklahoma City, defeated fifth-seeded Jackie Kamrath, Houston, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2, form held firm. Second-seeded Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., and third-seeded Rod Susman of Clayton, Mo., joined Buchholz and Buckley in the semifinals.

McKinley will meet Susman at 2 p.m. today and Buckley will face Buchholz an hour later.

In the quarterfinals, Susman defeated Adam Lopez, El Paso, 6-3, 6-1; McKinley defeated Deward Greer, Houston, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2; Buckley defeated Jack Kamrath, Houston, 8-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Welu and Hulsey Lead A.B.C. Doubles

Nagy's 2033 Is Tops In the All-Events

SYRACUSE, N.Y., April 12 (AP)—The St. Louis Falstaffs have taken command of three major categories in the American Bowling Congress. They now have to sweat out the remaining 58 days of the event hoping their scores will stand up.

The 3210 team series which the Falstaffs fashioned Thursday night seems relatively secure, since only two higher scores have been recorded in the 55-year history of the congress.

Steve Nagy's nine-game total of 2033, which put him in command of the all-events division yesterday, has some of the earmarks of permanence too. There are only seven higher over-all scores on the record books.

The 1313 amassed by the joint efforts of Billy Welu (714) and Woddy Hulsey (599) in the doubles category seems to be the least likely to standup. Since 1920, when Marvin Erickson and Eddie Krems, Chicago, took the championship with 1301, every winning doubles combination has come up with a better pinfall.

The Falstaffs' record team all-events total of 9608 could also stand the test of time. Although the team all-events category reflects better than any other the allround performance of an entire five-man unit in the ABC, it's rewards are relatively meager. A trophy is awarded the top scoring team, but there is no cash involved and it is not considered a major title.

The S & Z Tool & Die team of Cleveland, O., gave the Falstaffs their first serious challenge last night by pounding out a 3107 series for second place. The club made a slow 974 start, but followed with 1082 and 1051. Dan Toronski's 639 led a well balanced effort in which the entire lineup rolled 600 or better.

Nagy, who anchored the Falstaffs with 729, rolled 614 in the doubles and 690 in the singles to fatten his accumulation for the nine-game route to 2033. He got a double and a nine count in the tenth frame of the last game to crowd teammate Welu out of the all-events lead. Welu finished with 636-714-679—2029.

Carl Richard completed the Falstaffs' monopoly of the top three all-events standings by piling up 1935.

Nagy and Richard combined for 1243 and tenth place in the doubles. The Falstaffs also managed to take a bit out of the singles standings, placing Nagy in fifth with 690 and Welu in eighth with 679.

Clayton Track Finals, Today

Ladue's triple threat combination of Mike Bottom, Jim Brown and Gary Spiess may carry it to victory in the finals of the Clayton invitational track meet this afternoon. The Rams won the title a year ago.

Spiess set a half-mile mark of 2:02.1 in Wednesday's preliminaries and may be pushed again by Kirkwood's Bruce Calder who was edged out a fraction from the finish line.

Bottom tied his 220 mark, 22.8, in the preliminaries, but he, too, may be pushed to a record-breaking effort in the final.

McBride, with its one-man team of Ted Edwards, and University City or Kirkwood may surprise and wind up as champion. Ladue had the most qualifiers, nine, and University City was next, eight.

Champions Get Awards.

Winners in the recent St. Louis Women's Bowling Association title tourney will receive their awards at the annual meeting of the organization at Melbourne Hotel, tonight, starting at 7:30 o'clock. Officers also will be elected and a tourney site for next year selected.

10 Walks Help Beaumont Take League Opener

By Harold Tuthill

Beaumont got off on the right foot in defense of its Public High League baseball championship but it was an unimpressive 2-1 victory Ray Elliott's Jackets posted over Southwest yesterday.

The usually hard-hitting Jackets came up with only six hits and failed to take full advantage of the generosity of the three Longhorn pitchers who dished out 10 bases on balls. Beaumont left 11 base runners stranded, including three in each of the first and fourth innings when the runs were scored.

John Davis coaxed a walk to start the game. Art McBride bunted for a sacrifice and beat it out for a hit when first base was left uncovered. Bob Hardcastle sacrificed the runners along and a walk to Ralph Goltz filled the bases.

Dennis Creech struck out, but Joe Hendricks drew a base on balls, forcing in Davis. Al Gevers then fanned for the third out.

Winning Run Forced In.

Southwest tied it in the second. Mike Wofford reached second on a fly ball which Hendricks dropped and moved to third on Ron Anderson's infield roller. Ron Oellerman singled Wofford home.

Beaumont regained the lead in the fourth when Sterling Parsons, the first Beaumont pitcher, was forced home on a combination of three walks and a single by Davis. With three on and two out, Southwest's hurler, Charley Witt, was moved to right field and Bill Dorsom replaced him, getting out of the jam by striking out Creech.

Parsons, who was given credit for the Bluejackets' first victory of the season after a tie and two defeats, needed help from Wayne Clinton, who took over with two out in the sixth and retired four straight batters.

The results of the other P.H.L. games were one-sided. McKinley thumped O'Fallon Tech, 11-5; Cleveland beat Central, 10-4; Roosevelt walloped Vashon, 14-3, and Soldan trounced Hadley Tech, 11-2.

Sumner drew a first round bye.

Country Day Beats Lane.

Country Day defeated John Burroughs for the first time in four years, beating the Bombers' No. 1 pitcher, Mike Lane, who took over the mound chores despite a recent bout with measles. The score was 4-2. The loss was Lane's first after 15 victories in the last three years.

Jerry Loeb, the winning pitcher, was helped by two Burroughs errors in the seventh when the Rams scored three times and broke a 1-1 tie. Loeb struck out 10 and walked one.

St. Mary's went an extra two innings to nip Mercy, 5-4, in a Catholic Athletic Conference contest. The winning run came on Pinch-Hitter Pat Judge's squeeze bunt that scored Dennis Corcoran in the ninth.

Du Bourg edged out De Andreis, 2-1, on a two-hit effort by Dave Ritchie and McBride defeated Laboure, 5-1, in other C.A.C. games.

Belleville Cathedral started the defense of its Catholic League title with a 9-0 rout of St. John's. Chaminade beat St. Francis de Sales, 11-5, and Marquette won over Duchesne in other C.L. contests.

Ritenour, the state champion, dropped a non-league decision to St. Louis U. High, the Junior Bills pushing over two runs in the seventh for a 5-4 triumph.

SANDRA O'DAY IS BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY

Sandra June O'Day waived a preliminary hearing yesterday and was ordered held for the Madison county grand jury on a charge of assault with intent to murder Garland E. McGarvey Sr.

McGarvey was shot twice in the course of a family altercation April 4. The O'Day woman, held under $5000 bond, remains in jail at Edwardsville pending investigation of the case by the next grand jury, which meets in May.

She wore a dark, striped shirt and bluejeans when brought before Police Magistrate John Gitchoff of Madison. She has no attorney, and under Illinois law will have the services of a court appointed defender only after an indictment is returned.

McGarvey, an ex-convict, was shot in the right arm and the right shoulder. The O'Day woman said she fired as he attacked his son, Thomas, with a blackjack in the McGarvey apartment at 800 State street, Madison.

Mrs. McGarvey and the 24-year-old son were in court yesterday, but did not testify. McGarvey has left Barnes Hospital and is now at home under the care of a physician.

The O'Day woman has been kept under close surveillance by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation who are searching for the missing Greenlease ransom money. She spent a night at a tourist court with Carl Austin Hall shortly before he was arrested in 1953 for kidnaping and murdering Bobby Greenlease.

More than half of the $600,000 ransom has never been recovered, and a federal grand jury convening here April 21 will study any new evidence in the case. It is expected that Sandra O'Day will be called to testify about financial transactions between her and McGarvey.

THIEF AIDS IN TRAFFIC JAM, LEAVES POLICEMAN IN JAM

BONN, April 12 (AP)—Red-faced Bonn police officials admitted today that a zealous patrolman followed the rulebook so far he let a car thief get away.

It happened this way:

A motorist whose car had been stolen was driving a borrowed car along the street in front of Chancellor Adenauer's re[illegible]ence. Spotting his stolen car, he swerved in front of it and forced it to halt.

The motorist opened the door of his own car, dragged out the driver and rushed him up to the policeman on duty in front of the Chancellery. Meanwhile, traffic piled up behind the stopped cars.

The policeman, trying to clear a way for traffic, told the second man to get into the stolen car and move it to the side of the road. The man jumped in and drove off. Two hundred yards down the road he pulled over to the side, leaped out and escaped on foot.

WHEELER MAY ENTER RACE FOR SENATE AS REPUBLICAN

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Burton K. Wheeler, onetime New Dealer who represented Montana in the Senate for 24 years, is considering suggestions he try again for the Senate—this time as a Republican.

Wheeler said yesterday he doubted he would accept G.O.P. invitations to seek the nomination. "I feel quite sure I'm not going to run," he told a reporter, "but I'm going to wait a few days."

Wheeler, who is 76 years old, served in the Senate from 1923 to 1947. He said he has been getting wires and telephone calls from prominent Republicans urging him to run. He declined to identify them.

W. GERMANY TOPS BRITAIN IN PASSENGER CAR OUTPUT

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 12 (AP)—The United Nations reported yesterday that West Germany has topped Britain in passenger automobile production while United States has slipped but remains ahead.

The U.N. monthly statistical bulletin said that in December 1957 West Germany produced 79,380 passenger cars to Britain's 90,880. In January West Germany produced 102,050 to Britain's 85,640. Britain was down to 83,460 in February.

The two trailed the United States, but from last November to December, United States output fell from 583,800 to 555,200 compared with 617,600 in December 1956.

NATIONALISTS STILL AWAIT CHANCE TO INVADE RED CHINA

TAIPEI, April 12 (UP) — Premier O. K. Yui said yesterday the Nationalist Chinese government is watching close for "a favorable opportunity" to open its long-planned attack on Communist China.

Yui told the legislative Yuan (parliament) that the development of military strength will continue to receive priority among the government's plans for the fiscal year starting July 1.

He said Nationalist China should be ready to "grasp any opportunity when it comes, to restore the lost mainland."

Strides in Education.

CARBONDALE, Ill., April 12 (UP)—J. Lester Buford, former president of the National Education Association, said yesterday that children should be made to walk to school. Buford said in a speech that walking to school helps to snap children out of listlessness.

WEST GERMAN GETS YEAR FOR ANTI-SEMITISM

OFFENBURG, Germany, April 12 (UP) — Ludwig Zind, the first man convicted of anti-Semitism in West Germany in 25 years, has been sentenced to serve a year in jail.

A court here found the 51-year-old ex-school teacher guilty of "slandering the dead" yesterday after hearing witnesses testify that he told Jewish salesman Kurt Lieser a year ago that: "Not enough Jews were gassed" by the Nazis.

Judge Hans Eckert said the fact that this and other remarks were made in the heat of a beer hall dispute was no excuse.

"The anti-Semitism contained in these statements goes far beyond what one can allow for in considering the place and circumstances in which they were made," Eckert said. "This is not only anti-Semitism. It is crass disregard for the dignity of man."

Another school teacher, Edgar Fernau, has been suspended from a job in Mandelsloh for remarking that "it's too bad all the Jews weren't gassed" by the Hitler regime. No date has been set for trial in Fernau's case.

NEW IDEA FOR BOUQUET; IT'S MADE OF PLAY MONEY

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—A new type of corsage bouquet—made of toy money—will be worn at the sixty-seventh Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution next week.

They are being sold to raise a $40,000 fund for a new girls' cottage for the D.A.R.'s school at Tamassee, S.C. The play money represents the actual donation of cash made by the wearer.

Mrs. Frederic A. Groves of Cape Girardeau, Mo., D.A.R. president general, will be wearing a $225 bouquet given her by the national committee chairmen and vice chairmen yesterday.

PAKISTAN REPORTS TO U.N. ON 'REIGN OF TERROR'

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 12—Pakistan told the U.N. Security Council yesterday that a "reign of terror" has been unleased in Kashmir with the approval and support of the Indian government.

Pakistan's acting permanent representative, Agha Shahi, said the object of the campaign was "to crush the growing demand of the people" in Indian-occupied Kashmir "for a free and impartial plebiscite in this state." He listed 23 "prominent persons who had been arrested.

PEIPING SAYS U.S. USED TRICKS TO STALL TALKS

LONDON, April 12 (UP)—Communist China accused the United States today of using "fradulent tricks" to stall the long drawn-out diplomatic talks between the two countries.

The charge was made in a Peiping Foreign Ministry statement reported by the New China News Agency and monitored here.

The talks involved the question of American prisoners still in the hands of the Chinese Reds. They dragged on over a period of two years in Geneva, Switzerland, but were suspended after the seventy-third meeting in December 1957.

HIPPOPOTAMUS BITES MAN

DALLAS, Tex., April 12 (UP)—A hippopotamus bit a man yesterday. The hippo was named Impy. The man was zoo caretaker George L. Lockey Sr. The incident at the Dallas Zoo occurred after feeding time.

The 500-pound animal first grabbed Lockey by his hand but the 62-year-old keeper kicked free. Lockey was headed out when Impy came from behind to take a nip. The injured man was treated at a hospital and released.

NEW DATA OBTAINED ON SEEING PROCESS

Analysis of the electrical activity of cells of the eye has yielded new information on the way light initiates nerve impulses which are transmitted to the brain in the process of seeing, neurologists here were told last night.

Dr. M.G.F. Fuortes of the National Institute of Neprological Diseases and Blindness, Bethesda, Md., disclosed the new findings in the annual George B. Bishop Lecture in the auditorium of the David P. Wohl Jr. Memorial Hospital.

Nerve impulses, it was indicated in the research, are generated in the eye and other receptor organs in a manner similar to generation of impulses in the central nervous system.

"Certain parts of receptor organs transform specific types of energy—mechanical (touch), thermal (heat), acoustic (sound), photic (light) and chemical (taste and smell)—into an electrical charge called 'generator potential'" the speaker said. "Other parts of the sensory organ react to this electrical event by generating nerve impulses."

He added that it was hoped further study of the properties of receptors "may reveal some of the mechanisms which are important for the function of all nerve cells."

FIRST U.S. FIGHTER UNIT TO GO TO SPAIN IN JUNE

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The first United States Air Force fighter unit will go to Spain in June, it was announced yesterday. It will be commanded by Lt. Col. Charles K. Yeager, the first man to go faster than the speed of sound.

The Air Force said a day fighter squadron from George Air Force Base, Calif., equipped with F-100 Super Sabres, will be stationed at Moron Air Base near Seville.

Moron is one of four American air bases built or near completion in Spain. They are primarily for the Strategic Air Command, which has set up its Sixteenth Air Force headquarters in Spain. Strategic Command bombers have already started operating from the new Spanish fields, rotating there from bases in North Africa and elsewhere.

SCIENCE PRE-FAIR JUDGING UNDER WAY

Nineteen hundred exhibits, set up by youngsters from St. Louis area amid the bustle and confusion of a major exposition, were to be judged today, as the Greater St. Louis Science pre-fair competition got under way at the Washington University Field House.

The pre-fair competition, held for elementary students from kindergarten through the eighth grade, will be open to the public from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. today, and from 1:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Work in preparing the Field House for the exhibits began yesterday when volunteer workers set up tables and platforms and made other final arrangements for the displays.

In addition to the approximately 15 per cent of the exhibit to be selected for the regular Science Fair, judges also were to select another 15 per cent for a red-seal award, and 30 per cent for gold-seal awards. Winners of the pre-fair competition will be announced next Friday along with the winners of the Science Fair.

On Monday, exhibits will be dismantled and Science Fair exhibits set up. Those from the pre-fair not claimed by 11 a.m. Monday, will be discarded, Norman R. D. Jones, general chairman of the fair, said.

The Science Fair, including the pre-fair, is sponsored annually by the Post-Dispatch, and is produced by a committee of science teachers from the St. Louis area in co-operation with Washington University.

BRITISH GOVERNOR NAMES SENATE FOR WEST INDIES

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, April 12 (AP)—Lord Hailes, the British Governor General of the new West Indies Federation, yesterday named the prospective nation's 19 Senators, giving control of the upper house to the Federal Labor party.

The Laborites are expected to form a government based on a narrow majority in the 45-member House of Representatives, which was elected last month in balloting throughout the island federation.

Despite the preponderance of Laborite supporters in the Senate, Norman Manley, Jamaica's Chief Minister and Labor party leader, charged that Hailes had disregarded the constitution by consulting the opposition in Trinidad and Jamaica about his appointments. The Senate and House will begin preliminary meetings here next Friday. Princess Margaret will open the first West Indies Parliament formally April 22.

BLAMES MARITAL WOES FOR TRYING TO SEIZE PLANE

SEOUL, Korea, April 12 (AP)—The South Korean air force officer who tried to force the pilots of a transport plane to fly to Communist territory says trouble with his wife prompted the act.

Investigators said Capt. Choi Jung Il told them the idea of capturing the South Korean plane came to him as he was flying to see his 2-year-old son in Soeul before getting a divorce from his wife. Choi said he was not prompted by others in his attempt.

Informants said, however, that evidence showed Choi had secured the revolver used in the abortive holdup 20 days before he made his attempt Thursday. The plane's radio man was shot to death and two others wounded before Choi was subdued. Red North Korea gave cash awards yesterday to six Koreans who seized a ROK airliner in flight Feb. 16 and forced its American pilots to fly north.

Man Who Bought Widow's Home For $150 Got 2 More Same Way

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 12 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Morris Esche said today they will deed back three houses bought at sheriff's sales if the former owners will pay the expenses they have incurred.

Esche, a 30-year-old Purdue University student, and his wife found themselves in a furor this week after Mrs. Juanita Malin, 39, the widowed mother of nine children, reported her $10,000 house had been sold because of an unpaid $69.90 grocery bill. Esche paid $150 for the house, the difference representing interest and legal fees involved.

Two other home owners also said Esche had bought their houses under similar circumstances.

'Happy' to Give Deeds Back.

The Esches said in a statement through their attorney, Howard Sandusky, they will be "more than happy to give the deeds to the property back to them."

However, they said, the money does not in any way cover the worry and anxiety they have been caused.

"We purchased the property at a public auction," the Esches said in their statement. At that time we did not know the personal circumstances of the families until we heard about it from the newspapers and other news sources."

Mrs. Malin said she and her husband built the house themselves before he died of cancer three years ago. She said she paid off the mortgage with his life insurance money and has been living on $200 a month from social security.

She said there is a past due tax bill of $333 against it, of which $172 must be paid by Monday to keep it from being sold for taxes.

A tax sale would endanger Esche's title to the property, with a possibility that the house could pass to still another owner.

Mr. and Mrs. Esche and their three children left for a weekend visit at Yorktown, Ind., after reporting to West Lafayette police they had received some anonymous threatening telephone calls at their home near the Purdue campus.

Neighbors Offer Aid.

More than a dozen neighbors volunteered this week to post money for the return of the three-bedroom house.

The other houses involved were the $5000 residence of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mills, bought by Esche for $80, and a $3500 house belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Orlin Songer, bought for $475.

By the United Press.

Mr. and Mrs. Songer, an unemployed couple who built their home with their own hands, discovered they lost their home because of a $170 debt they assumed from a former son-in-law.

"We weren't able to keep up all the payments because we weren't working," Mrs. Songer said. "But nobody told us we would lose our home if we didn't pay."

Lost Home Over $7.56.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills said they lost their home over $7.56 in court costs on a bill they already had paid.

As in the other two cases, Esche bought their home at auction, becoming the legal owner a year from the date of the sale.

Mills said the first knowledge he had that his home was no longer his came last Sunday when he found a note from Esche, saying "I bought your home at a sheriff's sale Jan. 3, 1957. I want you to start paying rent or give up possession."

American With Reds 14 Months In Antarctic, Warmly Treated

WASHINGTON, April 20 (UP)—An American who spent 14 months at a Russian station in Antarctic described his hosts today as hospitable and competent.

Gordon D. Cartwright, is a United States Weather Bureau meteorligist. He wintered over with more than 100 Russians at the Soviet Mirny station. He has just returned to this country.

"I had an unusual opportunity to observe a group of Russians at work and off duty," Cartwright said. "I found them warm, hospitable, and with broad scientific and cultural backgrounds.

Keen Sense of Humor.

"They had a keen sense of humor and were, of course, sometimes delightful and sometimes difficult to understand."

Like camps of the United States and other countries in Antarctica, the Mirny station was established as part of the International Geophysical Year scientific program.

Cartwright, the only American at Mirny, took part in the station's weather analysis work and was responsible for preparation of daily upperair charts.

In connection with Cartwright's return, the United States I.G.Y. committee said United States-Soviet co-operation had been so successful that the two countries decided to continue the Mirney arrangement for another year. Morton J. Rubin of the Weather Bureau has replaced Cartwright there.

Meanwhile, Russia and Argentina are represented at Little America where the United States maintains a "weather central" for the entire continent.

No Political Discussions.

On his life with the Russians, Cartwright said:

"I cannot recall any involved discussion about politics. I know nothing about politics myself. The Russians wanted to know how we lived in America and asked questions about housing and magazines.

The Russians were very pleased when they learned that the Sputnik was launched. They said they thought it was a big accomplishment, but they did not tease me about it, or hold a celebration.

"The Russians congratulated me when the Explorer I went up."

AEC SLASHES PRICES OF RADIOISOTOPES

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission slashed the price yesterday of five long-lived radioactive fission by-products.

The commission said the sharply reduced prices are expected to encourage more widespread use of radioisotopes in industrial, medical and research applications.

Generally the new prices are less than 10 per cent of those formerly in effect for cesium 137, promethium 147, cerium 144, strontium 90 and technetium 99.

The commission said the reductions are based on estimated production from a new multicurie fission product pilot plant at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Oak Ridge, Tenn. The pilot plant, which will recover usable by-products of the fission process, is scheduled for operation this summer.

A small laboratory-type plant at Oak Ridge, which has been dismantled, was capable of production on a limited scale only.

"The lower prices are established in advance of plant operation to give medical and research institutions and industry opportunity to prepare for large-scale use of radioisotopes," the AEC announcement said.

Depending on the quantity bought, the new prices per curie range from $1 to $2 for cesium 137, $1.75 to $3.25 for promethium 147, $1 to $2 for cerium 144, $5 to $10 for strontium 90. Technetium 99 is priced from $80 to $140 per millicurie. The curie is a unit of radiation measurement.

SPUTNIK II DEATH PLUNGE NOW EXPECTED TOMORROW

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 12 (AP)—Sputnik II, Russia's dog-carrying satellite, is now expected to last until early tomorrow morning.

The Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory had predicted the satellite, launched Nov. 3, might fall to its end tonight, possibly after passing over New England around 9 p.m.

The Smithsonian said that four radar sightings reported from Jodrell Bank, England, indicated the satellite was not speeding up its descent quite as fast as had been predicted. The British sightings were confirmed by one received yesterday from College, Alaska. The rocket is now orbiting the earth in approximately 89 minutes. Scientists consider this an indication that the satellite has fallen so close to the earth that it will burn up from friction with the atmosphere.

POPE IS GIVEN FIRST COPY OF NEW BIBLE IN ENGLISH

© New York Times News Service

ROME, April 12 — The first copy of a new Roman Catholic Bible in English was presented to Pope Pius XII yesterday by an international group responsible for its publication. The volume, to be known as "The Catholic Bible in the St. Peter's Edition," carries a message from the Pontiff recommending it to all English-speaking faithful.

The Old Testament is translated in the Douay version and the New Testament and Psalms in the Westminster version.

ITALIAN REDS BLACKED OUT

ROME, April 12 (AP)—Premier Zoli last night ordered Italy's Communist party excluded from radio or television time in campaigning for the May 25 parliamentary elections.

He said this was because the Communists have a foreign radio station broadcasting their propaganda five hours a day. He referred to programs called "Today in Italy" broadcast on eight wave lengths from Radio Prague. Other parties will be allotted equal time on Italy's state-owned radio-TV system.

German Steel Strike Averted.

ESSEN, Germany, April 12 (AP) — West German steel workers have agreed to accept pay rises of about 3.6 per cent and call off a threatened strike of the world's third largest steel industry. Union members among the 200,000 workers split about evenly yesterday in a vote on accepting the industry's counter offer to their demands for 10 per cent increases.

DRUG FIRM RECALLS 'MOOD STIMULANT'

The manufacturer of a drug called "Marsilid," which is sold by wholesale and some retail drug concerns in St. Louis, is recalling packages of the product which recommend a daily dose of 150 milligrams or more.

A United States Food and Drug Administration official in Washington announced yesterday that the Hoffmann-Laroche Co. of Nutley, N.J., was taking the action after a coroner's jury in San Francisco attributed a woman's death to the drug.

Described by the manufacturer as a "mood stimulant," the drug is used in treating certain mental diseases and in tuberculosis therapy. It is available only on a physician's prescription.

A spokesman for Hoffman-Laroche told a reporter it had been notifying physicians and drug houses since Jan. 1 the recommended dosage for moderate depression should be 50 milligmas, but that physicians could increase dosage in cases of deeper depression.

The Food and Drug Administration said the company would use its entire field staff of about 250 persons to help collect packages marked with the 150 to 400 milligram dose recommendation. The FDA regards the 50-milligram recommendation as safe, it was added.

In St. Louis, a pharmaceutical wholesaler and a retail pharmacist said they had not been notified of a change in the recommended dosage, which appears on the labels of some packages as a maximum of 400 milligrams daily. No illnesses resulting from overdoses of the drug have been reported to health officials here.

The company spokesman said there had been an estimated 20 deaths of patients "under Marsilid administration and other drugs." He added, however, that the deaths could not be definitely attributed to Marsilid.

In a formal statement, Hoffmann-Laroche said the drug had been available since 1952 and had been used successfully by more than 500,000 patients, some of whom had received dosages far in excess of those presently recommended.

"The company stresses that there is no such thing as a completely 'safe' drug," V. D. Mattia, director of medical research for the company, said. "Patient sensitivity is always an unknown and unpredictable hazard in the administration of modern drugs, as has been repeatedly reported following the use of penicillin, cortisone, hormones and similar valuable new drugs."

Marsilid is a trade name for ipproniazid phosphate.

PILE OF $10 BILLS FOUND IN WALL OF ALTON TAVERN

A tavern at 1713 Bozza street, Alton, which is being converted by James Vambaketes into a sporting goods store, has become the source of a possible windfall. A large sum of money was found in one of the building's partitions, Vambaketes said yesterday.

The find consisted of $10 bills wrapped in a newspaper. Workmen who saw it estimated total value at several thousand dollars. Vambaketes would say only that "it was an awful lot of money." The plywood partition where the money was found did not extend to the ceiling and was open at the top.

The bills, somewhat damaged, will be sent to the United States Treasury in Washington for determination of their value and conversion into new bills which will be returned to Vambaketes, he said.

Vambaketes said the tavern had been operated by his late father, George Vambaketes, but the son took it over about 10 years ago. He said he was sure his father had not put the money there.

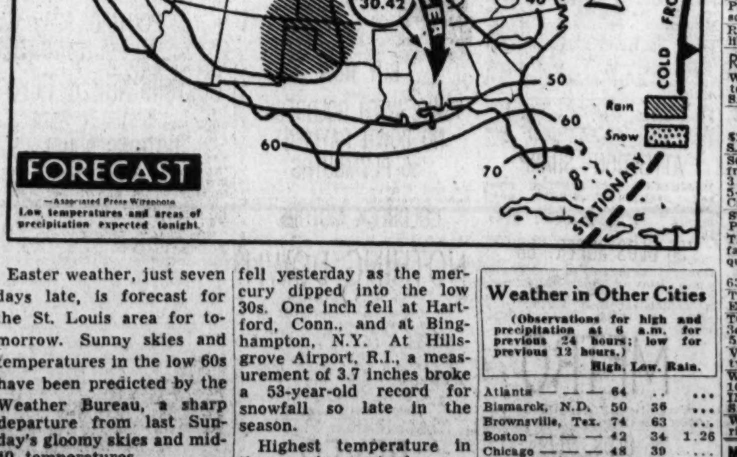
Sunny Skies, Mild Day Promised



—Associated Press Wirephoto
Low temperatures and areas of precipitation expected tonight.

Easter weather, just seven days late, is forecast for the St. Louis area for tomorrow. Sunny skies and temperatures in the low 60s have been predicted by the Weather Bureau, a sharp departure from last Sunday's gloomy skies and mid-40 temperatures.

Most of the nation shared in the spring-like temperatures that St. Louisans enjoyed yesterday and today. Skies were cloudless along the Pacific Coast, in the Plateau region, over most of the Plains area southward to the Gulf Coast and throughout the Mississippi Valley. A few widely scattered showers dampened the Dakotas and Montana last night.

In New England, snow fell yesterday as the mercury dipped into the low 30s. One inch fell at Hartford, Conn., and at Binghampton, N.Y. At Hillsgrove Airport, R.I., a measurement of 3.7 inches broke a 53-year-old record for snowfall so late in the season.

Highest temperature in the country yesterday was 89, recorded at Thermal, Calif., while Fraser, Colo., reported the nation's low, 8 below zero.

The high temperatures forecast for today and tomorrow are only slightly below normal for this time of year, the Weather Bureau reported. The record low for this date is 24 degrees, recorded in 1940. A year later, the record high was registered for this date, 87.

Dummy From the Depths

Dummy missile surges from below the surface of the Pacific ocean in test of an underwater ballistic missile launcher. Launching device will be used to fire the 1500-mile Polaris missile from submarines. The Navy, in releasing the picture in Washington yesterday, said it was made in the course of current tests off southern California, with the dummy launched from a tube housed in a stationary cylinder.

ALGERIAN REBELS KIDNAPED 120 MOSLEMS, FRENCH SAY

ALGIERS, April 12 (UP) — Guerrilla raiders have kidnaped 120 Moslem men, women and children from a community farm in east Algeria and taken them across the frontier into Tunisia, French army officers reported today.

Few details of the alleged mass abduction were given. The French said it happened near the town of Munier, 25 miles southeast of Bone, late Tuesday night.

Officials here said the guerrillas crossed the border from Tunisia. Military headquarters frequently reported Arabs kidnaping Algerian Moslems and taking them to Tunisia for training in the rebel army.

URGES TREATING BRIGHT STUDENTS LIKE ATHLETES

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 12 (AP)—This country would be in much better shape if the schools gave their brightest students the same loving attention they give their top athletes, a leading educator said yesterday.

Look what we do for a good football player, said Dr. Nicholas Hobbs of George Peabody College of Teachers, Nashville, Tenn.:

"Early identification, special tutoring in small classes, highly paid professors of Saturday afternoon classes, acceleration, special scholarships, uniforms, weekly field trips, even special diets. . . ."

Dr. Hobbs told the Council for Exceptional Children, "in criticizing our schools we should at least ask ourselves what we wanted of them before we got scared of the Russians."

Ivan Garrison, director of special education in Jacksonville, Ill., was named president-elect of the Council.

Kenneth Mangan, principal of Gallaudet School for the Deaf in St. Louis, was named to the board of governors.

BOYS AND GIRLS, and adults as well, have become "space minded" to a high degree. Among my recent letters is one from Janice Rhodes, which reads:

"Could anything live on the sun? If we ever have a space station near the sun, could we use some of the heat for atomic power?"

No form of plant or animal life could stand a close approach to the sun. By "close approach," I mean getting to a point within a million miles of what we call the sun's surface.

One of the sun's big flames could lick up a space platform in a hurry, and would turn it into gas. Even without contact with a direct flame, the object would melt and turn into gas.

A rocket might circle the sun at a distance of two or three million miles, but even that is doubtful. The rocket would need to travel at a terrific speed—say 200 or 300 miles a second—to stand a chance of surviving. Even at that speed, I would advise space men to move at a distance of at least five million miles from the sun—and to keep going.

There is tremendous gravity power in the sun. When a comet travels around the sun, it increases its speed the closer its orbit comes to the fire of day.

The question about using sunshine for atomic power for a space station calls up a larger problem. The sun is a mass of atoms, and there is action among these atoms which results in light and heat being sent out into the solar system.

Most of the heat misses the planets, and is "lost" in a sense. Just the same, the earth receives a vast amount.

Men in the future may discover better ways of storing heat from the sun, and using it for power. Ways have been found to capture a little of the heat for use in hot water systems; even for heating homes, but we hardly have scratched the surface of the problem up to this date.
